And in China
A Fancy Speech
Impossible, Mr. Sheehan
Baruch's Wheat Plan

By Arthur Brisbane

T[illegible] learned editor of the Chefoo Daily News, who publishes an English edition of [illegible] Chinese newspaper, is [illegible] York arranging with Mr. [illegible] syndicate boss, for [illegible] of this column in [illegible] and Chinese in Chefoo. [illegible] little candle throws his [illegible] a long way around the [illegible] El Mundo, Havana, out in [illegible] Atlantic, in 70 American cities [illegible] from New York to California [illegible] in the Honolulu Advertiser. The next step is from the [illegible] islands to China. As [illegible] nothing much in this column [illegible] brief references to [illegible] learn that the same kind [illegible] interests parts of the [illegible] far apart.

A[illegible] read the president's world [illegible] address, an excellent speech [illegible] fancy trimmings: "My so[illegible] for peace, my heart is hu[illegible] my spirit is eager to serve— [illegible] nation is for justice over force [illegible] mind is made up—my resolution is fixed," etc.

[illegible] a "sink or swim, survive or perish," swing to it; very pleas[illegible].

The president exhorted, he be[illegible] he implored, he quoted "Lead, Kindly Light," he prayed [illegible] to keep all our minds open, [illegible] that was the most important [illegible].

[illegible] a mind needs to be open and [illegible] working order when such a flood [illegible] earnest eloquence is poured into [illegible].

Coming back from "Kindly Light" to cold facts, this is the [illegible] of the speech that counts:

The president will demand:

"First, that the tribunal (world [illegible]) be so constituted as to ap[illegible] and to be in theory and practice, in form and in substance, be[illegible] the shadow of a doubt, a [illegible] court and not a league court. Second, that the United States [illegible] occupy a plane of perfect [illegible] with every other power."

As to No. 1, Lord Robert Cecil, who knows more about the league of nations than President Harding [illegible] possibly know, says positively that the world court IS part of the league of nations.

As to "the United States shall occupy a place of perfect equality with every other power," the answer is that's impossible.

The president surely doesn't [illegible] that Europe will allow us to [illegible] one-half of all the judges. [illegible] we have one-half the judges [illegible] on a plane of equality. [illegible] Europe is Europe, and America [illegible] America. The interests of [illegible] continents are opposed, [illegible] envies, hates, and to a [illegible] despises this country. [illegible] Harding doesn't know [illegible] a trip to Europe would [illegible] him of it, if he went dis[illegible].

[illegible] were six judges on that [illegible] not more than one [illegible] distinctly a United States [illegible]. The five others would be [illegible].

[illegible] would be no "plane of perfect equality" there.

[illegible] Baruch gives farmers ad[illegible] which they will listen. [illegible] how things are [illegible] and where the [illegible]. He spent many years [illegible] before leaving active [illegible].

[illegible] a wheat pool to con[illegible] the benefit of the [illegible] discourages specula[illegible] to gamblers instead [illegible] the best profits on the [illegible].

[illegible] suggestion that J. Og[illegible] start an export agency [illegible] farmers is a good sug[illegible] starter. The scheme [illegible] somebody that under[illegible] wide marketing, and [illegible] understands.

[illegible] would not let go of [illegible] Baruch wouldn't sug[illegible].

[illegible] wheat pool would [illegible] miracles, of course, or [illegible] from subordination [illegible]. But it might [illegible] him the full Ameri[illegible] American wheat, [illegible] he wants.

Thompson Is Charged With Tesmer Murder

[illegible]—A charge of murder [illegible] against Fred G. Thompson [illegible] of a man and "hus[illegible] woman, arrested in connection [illegible] the killing of Richard [illegible] June 5.

[illegible] was made by the [illegible] municipal court to force [illegible] an attorney to free [illegible] Frank Carrick, as [illegible] Thompson had posed [illegible] years, on a writ of [illegible].

[illegible] Judge Davis dismissed [illegible] corpus proceedings when [illegible] the police had produced a [illegible] Thompson.

Gems And Cash Loot Of Thief

C. H. Cronk And N. J. Reible Homes Are Entered

Two second-story burglars who take advantage of open windows on warm nights, and who last night broke into two West Side homes and robbed women's bedrooms of jewelry valued at $400 while the occupants of the room slept, are being sought today by eDtective Robert Putnam of the police department.

Jewelry valued at $400 was taken from the room of Mrs. C. H. Cronk, second floor of the McLane Collagay residence 325 W. Washington ave., by a man who forced entrance through a second story window.

A burglar who had forced entrance into the home of Norbert J. Reible, 215 S. Mills st., was apprehended rifling the pockets of Mr. Reible's trousers at 11:30 last night, but made his escape before the astonished members of the household could catch him.

Mrs. Cronk, widow, discovered that the drawers of her dresser were open and that their contents were spilled about the floor of her room when she awakened this morning.

Immediate investigation showed that her jewelry case which had contained a $300 diamond, a $50 pearl ring, a Chi Phi pin, a $10 mosaic ring, a $25 neck chain, and a $30 traveling bag had been taken.

An open window in another rear room revealed the logical means of entrance employed by the bandit. The screen that had been on the window had been pried off, and foot prints on the rear porch roof showed that a man had walked on the roof.

There were similar footprints in the lily flower box on the railing of the rear porch.

Further investigation showed that Mrs. Collagay's bedroom had been pilfered and that $11 in cash had been stolen from one of the dresser drawers.

It is believed that the burglar in this instance gained entrance to the house between 11 and 12 o'clock last night, just after Mrs. Cronk had retired, and just before the Collagay family returned from the lake where they had been picnicking.

No valuables were stolen from the Reible home.

Mrs. Anna Reible had retired to the davenport in the living room of her home at 11 o'clock last night. Intuition told her that there was someone in the house at 11:30. She believed she heard a sound in the kitchen. She got up and went to the kitchen.

The kitchen door was wide open and a pair of house slippers was standing in the doorway.

Frightened, because she knew the door had been locked before the family retired, the woman ran to her husband's bedroom and awakened him. Mr. Reible turned on the lights.

At this juncture a large man jumped from behind the foot of his bed and dashed past Mr. and Mrs. Reible toward the kitchen, then passed out the door.

The husband's trousers were found lying at the rear of the bed. It is believed the burglar was pilfering the pockets when he was discovered.

Weather Report

Furnished by U. S. Weather Bureau

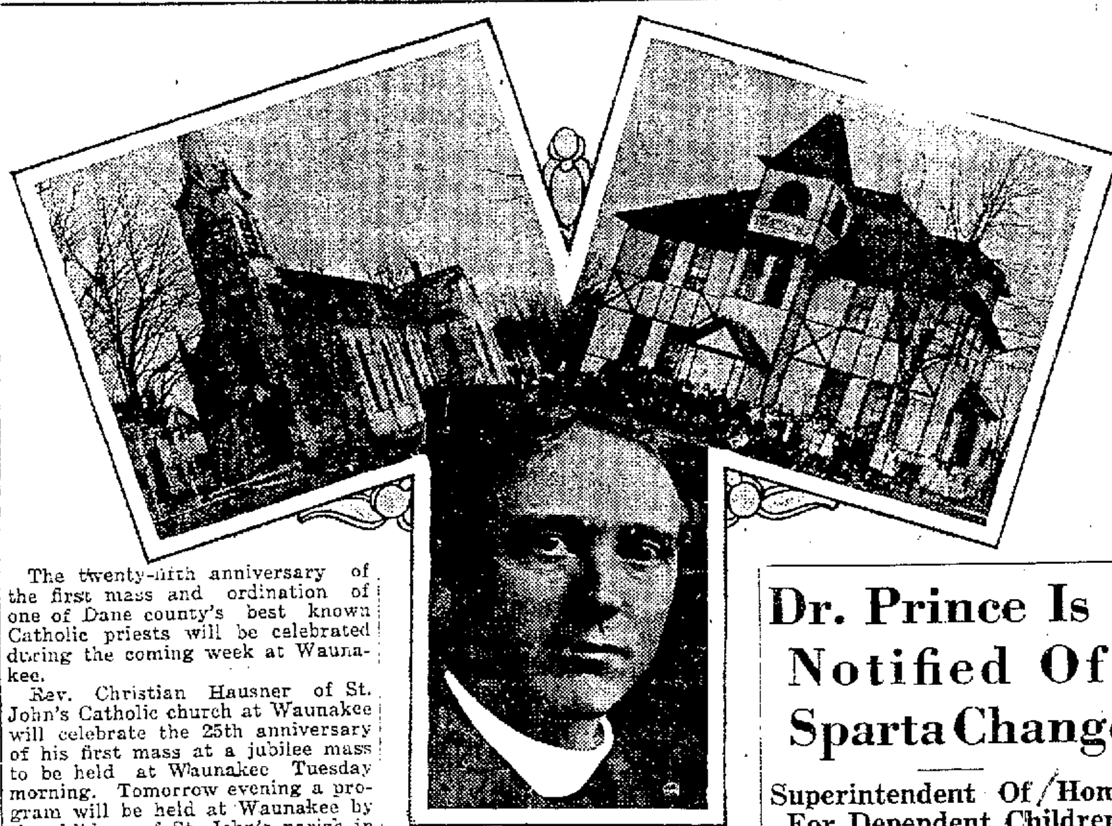

The mercury reached 93½ this afternoon at 2:45, according to the weather bureau. This is a season record.

The highest temperature during the 24 hours ending at 9 a. m. was 91 at 3 p. m. yesterday and the lowest 73 at 5 a. m. The sun sets at 7:41.

The eastern high has shifted to the Atlantic states, and the low in the Northwest is now centralizing over Manitoba. The heat wave has broken in the northern Atlantic states and on the northern plains, but high temperatures continue elsewhere east of the Rockies.

Thunderstorm conditions prevail along the northern border. Scattered rains have occurred in the Gulf states and on the central plains. Light rains and warmer weather occupy the Pacific slope.

Well Known Dane County Priest to Celebrate His 25th Anniversary

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the first mass and ordination of one of Dane county's best known Catholic priests will be celebrated during the coming week at Waunakee.

Rev. Christian Hausner of St. John's Catholic church at Waunakee will celebrate the 25th anniversary of his first mass at a jubilee mass to be held at Waunakee Tuesday morning. Tomorrow evening a program will be held at Waunakee by the children of St. John's parish in honor of Father Hausner.

At the jubilee mass to be held Tuesday morning, Father Hess of Waterloo will preach a sermon in English and Father Gehrend of Milwaukee will preach in German.

Rev. Christian Hausner was born in Kenosha on Feb. 6, 1873. In 1898 he entered St. Francis seminary and he offered his first mass on June 28th, 1898. He was assistant priest one year at St. Joseph's church, Milwaukee. Later he was made pastor of St. Mary's church at Pine Bluff where he remained for fourteen years. On Feb. 8th, 1917 he went to Waunakee. While at Waunakee he has made many improvements in St. John's church and school. Under his direction a new sisters' house was built. Recently the frescoing of the church in Mosaic style has been completed.

SAUK CITY, Wis.—While Adrian Becker, toll collector at the Sauk City bridge for more than a score of years, looked on, the new bridge spanning the Wisconsin river between Roxbury and Sauk City was dedicated this afternoon.

Becker, who is 79 years old, gave up his position two years ago when the old toll bridge was made a free passageway. Gov. Blaine, W. O. Hotchkiss, chairman of the state highway commission, and A. R. Hirst, state highway engineer, were the principal speakers.

Gov. Blaine said that the bridge was an instance of the Wisconsin spirit of progress and marked another advancement in Wisconsin's transportation system.

Mr. Hotchkiss declared taht the bridge represented not only the labor and skill of the engineers and workmen who designed it, but also the pioneers of industry who made it possible.

Sauk City threw aside all business to give itself up to the holiday declared by Mayor Dresen.

More than 3,000 townsmen and residents of neighboring communities and farmers rallied around the bridge to witness the ceremonies. State officials and Sauk City leaders directed the dedication. The bridge is 995 feet long. It takes the place of the toll bridge which was presided over by Becker for so many years.

Excessive heat failed to daunt the spirits of the celebrators. Music was provided by the Mozart club of Madison and by the Sauk City band. Every man and woman for many miles around, seemingly, had gathered for the occasion. The city was decorated in gay colors. Two lines of flags extended the length of the bridge.

E. L. Phillip, former governor of Wisconsin, presented the memorial approach on the Sauk City side at the morning exercises. Mr. Phillip recalled former days when now antiquated methods of transportation were in vogue. He said that he remembered the time, when slow horse-teams rumbled across the old structure, long before the days of the first automobile.

Mr. Hirst described briefly the elements that went into the building of the new bridge. He said that 1,281,120 pounds of steel were used, and 2,512 tons of concrete. Mr. Hirst said that the bridge cost $159,000 and the approaches cost $31,000.

Becker, who has now retired and is living at Sauk City, said that he remembered well the days when he kept the toll bridge. He nodded in agreement when speakers told of the progress which the bridge represented. He said that during his term of more than 20 years of service at the bridge, he worked day and night, in sunshine and in storms, and was ready to help at any time.

When tolls were collected at the bridge, the fee was 25 cents for each vehicle.

Dr. Prince Is Notified Of Sparta Change

Superintendent Of Home For Dependent Children Is Out July 1

The state board of control has notified Dr. L. H. Prince, superintendent of the state school for dependent children at Sparta that a change is to be made at the institution effective July 1.

The following letter has been received by Dr. Prince:

Dr. L. H. Prince, Supt.,
State Public School,
Sparta, Wisconsin.

Dear Dr. Prince:

The board directs me to advise you that, effective July first, there is to be a change made in the superintendency of your institution. This information is given you in order that you may adjust your own plans accordingly.

With best wishes for success in whatever field of work you may choose for the future, we are

Yours very truly,
STATE BOARD OF CONTROL OF WISCONSIN,
By: Frank A. Crocker, Secretary.

Dr. Prince formerly practiced in Madison. He has attained a national reputation as the discoverer of the drop ether method for operations.

The board of control has given out no information about the change at Sparta. The letter was given out by Dr. Prince. It is understood that the board has based its action on its criticism of Dr. Prince's administration methods.

Madison Men To Leave On Trip Through West; To See Fight July 4

Four Madison men are preparing to leave tonight or tomorrow for a tour through the west, including in their trip the Dempsey-Gibbons fight at Shelby, Mont., July 4. They are Charles Wondenberg, Charles O'Brien, Dr. James Dean and Dr. Richard Aylward.

The men have purchased an old Cadillac automobile and will drive from here to Glacier National park, from where they will leave in time to see the fight. July 5 the men will start north into Canada for a tour.

Offered Wife for Sale, Is Charge; She Wins Decree

Is a wife chattel property? Is she fair commodity on public markets? Should women be listed in the stock exchange?

Olga Van Vleet, 23, Sauk county, today won a divorce suit in Judge E. Ray Stevens' circuit court from her husband, Fred, 28.

The wife alleges that soon after their marriage in October, 1921, the husband began going with other women. When a brother of the husband came from Michigan to visit them, the husband offered the wife for sale, fixing the sale price at $15. Mrs. Van Vleet will resume her maiden name of Olga Fenzke.

Girl Here Overcome By Heat

Helen Nelson Falls Down Flight Of Stairs; New Heat Mark

Miss Helen Nelson, age 20, was overcome by the heat and severely bruised about her head and body when she fainted and fell down a flight of stairs at her home at 4[illegible] Clemons ave., yesterday noon. She is still confined to her home today. Miss Nelson is the second heat prostration victim in this city during the heat wave of the week past.

Miss Nelson is a clerk at the ribbon counter at the Harry Manchester, Inc., store, N. Pinckney st. She returned to her home at noon, not feeling well. She complained of the heat to members of her family.

She climbed the stairs but did not reach the top step before she fainted and fell backward down the stairs.

A new heat record was set yesterday when the mercury reached 91 degrees above zero at 3 o'clock. The city continues to swelter under the intense hot wave from the west and indications today were that the hot weather would continue over Sunday, reaching the breaking point possibly Sunday night.

Local thunder showers may develop, it was said at the weather bureau this morning, and the forecast is for partially cloudy weather tonight and tomorrow. Not much change in temperature is seen.

Air War Code

Jurist Committee Would Regulate Bombing Of Towns

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—A far-reaching international code covering aerial warfare has been framed by the commission of jurists appointed by the principal powers under an agreement reached at the Washington arms conference. Drafts of the rules have just now been transmitted to the representative powers.

One of the most important articles of the projected code which may become the basis of treaty, would prohibit the bombardment of cities, towns or buildings not in the immediate neighborhood of the operation of land forces. This would outlaw such aerial bombardments as those carried out by the Germans against London, Paris and other cities.

Under this proposed regulation aerial bombardment would be legitimate "only when directed exclusively at military forces, military works, factories constituting important centers engaged in the manufacture of arms or ammunition."

In cases where such objectives are so situated that they could not be bombarded without the indiscriminate bombardment of the civilian population aircraft, under the regulations "must abstain from bombardment."

The use of aircraft for the purpose of disseminating propaganda would not be treated as an illegitimate means of warfare and the members of the crews of such aircraft could not be deprived "of their rights as prisoners of war."

When any aircraft had been disabled, the occupants when endeavoring to escape by means of a parachute could not be attacked in the course of their descent.

Dr. Beecroft Purchases Doty Street Apartments

Polar Bear Finds Zoo a Hot Place in Summer Time

Zero at the Zoo

Hot? Think of Zero.

Zero, the polar bear at the Vilas park zoo, claims the uncomfortable honor of being the hottest being in Madison.

Lying motionless in a shady corner of his fenced-in yard, Zero has only the doubtful solace of dreams of what might have been in the ice packs of the north.

Zero wasn't built of 90 in the shade. He was meant to lumber over ice flows in the Behring sea or swim swiftly through the cold waters near the Arctic circle, unworried by miles. His coat seems to be about a foot thick.

But his lot is made as comfortable as possible. Fresh water from the city mains flows through the open part of his den and ammonia filled pipes bring the temperature of the interior to 65 degrees.

Harding Binds Grain In Day In Wheat Belt

Sees End Of Hard Times For Farmers; For Rail Merger

(By the Associated Press)

HUTCHINSON, Kas.—President Harding went into a hundred acre Kansas wheat field near here today, drove a binder, shocked up some of the harvested grain in both the Kansas and Ohio ways and obtained first hand information as to the problems of the wheat farmers.

The chief executive demonstrated that he had not forgotten his farmer boy days in Ohio and as he climbed down from the tractor which drew the ten foot binder, Gov. J. M. Davis of Kansas exclaimed:

"You are some farmer, Mr. President," and several of the farm hands called out "you are all right, chief."

Prior to the trip into the country, the President spoke briefly to a gathering of school children in the city park and late in the day went to the state fair grounds to deliver the third prepared address of his western trip.

His address in part follows:

President Harding brought to the agricultural middle west today a message of optimism with a prediction that the worst of the postwar depression had passed and that gradual improvement could be reasonably expected.

In an address devoted to discussion of the agricultural situation, the president reviewed the measures taken by the government to aid the farmers, placing at the forefront the farm credits legislation enacted by the last congress. This legislation when carried out, he declared, "will be capable of furnishing the American farmers, for the first time in the history of agriculture in any country, are quate investment and working cap-

Liquor Is Seized In New York

Rum Removed To Ware-House; Halted By Health Officer

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Removal of the seized liquor from the Baltic began shortly before 2 o'clock. The authorities induced longshoremen to lift it with a crane from the hold and it was loaded on trucks bound for a government warehouse.

Only a few dozen cases had bean taken off, however, when the removal was stopped upon telephonic instructions from Dr. Sprague. Customs and prohibition authorities, up in the air over the latest turn in events, said they were awaiting Dr. Sprague's arrival before they did anything else.

Issue Drastic Order.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—New and drastic instructions, designed, it was said to hasten seizure of beverage liquors aboard the incoming foreign liners were sent today by Asst. Secty. Moss of the treasury department, to customs and prohibition officers in New York.

The new orders were made necessary, it was stated, by the action of Dr. E. K. Sprague, public health officer in New York, in granting a request of the medical officer of the British liner Berengaria to retain its entire supply of liquors as "medicinal."

Permit granted by Dr. Sprague, in the case of the Berengaria, has been ordered withdrawn by the acting surgeon general who received his orders from Asst. Secty. Moss. Mr. Moss then notified customs and prohibition agents that no "unreasonable" grant of liquors could be allowed by the treasury."

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The sudden halt in seizure of the Baltic's supply of liquor was a surprise to treasury officials in Washington who immediately took steps to ascertain the cause. Asst. Sect. Noss, acting head of the department, said no order countermanding yesterday's instructions to seize the liquor had gone forward from the capital. It was said later that the authorities had delayed to wait "through courtesy" for Dr. E. K. Sprague local head of the U. S. public health service, who has issued a permit for the retention of some liquor for medical supplies. When he failed to appear, the raiders resumed their work.

Get Countermanding Order.

NEW YORK—Seizure of the Baltic's sealed liquor was stopped today upon a countermanding order, presumably from Washington, just as prohibition agents were about to cart it off the ship.

The American customs authorities charged by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's latest order with the seizure of liquor brought in by foreign steamships under government seal for use on their return trips, had their task greatly augmented today when the French liner, Paris, steamed into quarantine with a large supply of liquor in her hold.

The captain said he had under seal the following supplies: ordinary wine 8,494 bottles; crew wine 51 barrels; Rhine wine 864 bottles; cognac 193 bottles; whisky 76 battles; gin 85 bottles; rum 62 bottles; champagne 671 bottles; 757 half bottles of champagne; beer 266 bottles, and 136 barrels; liquors 340 bottles.

Sect. Mellon arrived here this morning to board the Majestic for a trip to Europe. He said he did not expect to witness the liquor seizures and declined to comment in any way on the prohibition situation.

Council Launches Move For New Traffic Laws

Take Step To Control Bus Lines

Mayor Names Committee To Take Up New System

New legislation governing traffic conditions and the passenger bus service in the city was launched by the city council Friday night when Mayor I. Milo Kittleson appointed a committee of five to investigate these problems and report at the earliest opportunity.

Ald. H. J. Steffen fathered the resolution asking that the committee be made. Council members named were Ald. H. J. Steffen, D. C. Sullivan, and A. G. Park. J. C. Bitterman of the Association of Commerce good roads bureau, and Dr. E. H. Drews, president of the police and fire commission were also named as members.

The committee will attempt to create new traffic rules which will relieve the congested conditions of the streets. A more efficient system of parking around the square will also be considered by the committee as well as the stop order on arterial highways.

Besides these problems they will also consider the problem of the increasing of the number of motor busses operating between Madison and neighboring communities. Merchants have endorsed the proposed plan to designate some central station where they may load and discharge passengers. This in itself will be a great aid in relieving the parking question of the city.

Ald. R. F. Elver, L. A. Clarke and W. J. Oakey were appointed a committee of three to represent the city on the committee which will determine the candidate for the position of assistant woman probation officer. The committee will be composed of three members of the county board, three from the city council, and five to be appointed by Judge O. A. Stolen.

The purchase of 100 traffic signals the cost not to exceed $500 was adopted upon the recommendation of the street committee. The signals will be placed at intersections in series of fours designating the center of streets and in this way eliminate corner cutting.

A petition asking that this system as invented by T. G. Cretney of this city, be installed at West Dayton and Park streets was received by the city council and referred to the street committee. Twenty residents of the vicinity signed the request.

ital on terms as favorable as those accorded to commerce and industry." Furthermore, he said, it will tend to restore fair prices for farm products and aid the farmer in lifting debts incurred during the period of depression.

"I confess a frank pride in the government's part in bettering a situation against which you justly complained and which all the people of the nation deplored," the president told his audience in this agricultural state. "The co-operation of all the government agencies, and with them the co-operation of the fine forces of leadership which the great national farm organizations have developed, made it possible to secure a measure of helpful results in this department of our endeavors, which has been especially gratifying. Moreover, it has found prompt reflection in the improved status of every agricultural concern. We have been officially informed that owing to improved conditions the farm products of the country for 1922 were worth $2,000,000,000 more than they were in 1921. Clearly, we are through the worst of the depression and can reasonably expect gradual improvement."

(By the Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Mo — Consolidation of the railroads of the country into a small number of systems is a rational, justifiable step, full of promise towards solution of the transportation problem, President Harding declared here last night in the second prepared address of his western trip.

"If the system consolidations will not afford the solution, he said, "then our failure will enforce a costlier experiment and the one great commitment which I hope the United States will forever escape."

The president expressed the belief that this one great commitment — government operation — would be "a colossal blunder, which would destroy initiative, infect us with political corruption, create regional jealousies and impose incalculable cost on the public treasury."

Discussing relations between the carriers and their employes as a vital factor in the transportation situation, the President announced that he favored continuance of the railroad labor board "under such modifications as seem most likely to make the plan successful." He said he was not convinced that the test of this plan had been "a complete and entirely fair one, "but added that "there is little to hope for until all concerned are ready to comply promptly with the board's decisions."

"I am frank to say," he continued, "I do not hope for compliance on the part of employes so long as decisions are ignored by the managers.

With regard to relations between the railroads and their employes, the President declared he did not believe "it possible under our form of government to compel men to work against their will, and do not think it desirable under any form of government."

"I say this," he added, "fully recollecting my vote in the Senate in favor of the antistrike provision of the railroad act of 1920. That was not a provision denying men the right to strike. It was merely a requirement that before the men should strike or the employer should lock them out, both sides should submit their differences to a properly constituted an impartial tribunal, empowered to consider the facts, determine the merits, and make an award.

She's a Flirt---Proud of It

Miss Ivy I. Deakin.

SAN FRANCISCO—Down on the other side of the earth, in the land of bushmen and kangaroos, Miss Ivy I. Deakin claims the flirting championship of Australia.

This mistress of the ancient art of flirting, recently dubbed "vamping," is the daughter of a wealthy financier of Sydney.

It was the desire for "more worlds to conquer" that prompted her to board the S. S. Sonoma, Frisco bound.

Of course it matters not how expert one is, continuous practice is necessary to keep at top form. Therefore Miss Deakin found something else to do besides looking for whales during the voyage.

According to her own admission she vamped everything, masculine or otherwise, on the ship except the anchor, and she adds apologetically, "They kept that chained up."

Lucky they did or it might have followed her right off the boat when she arrived here.

They're wearing 'em—meaning skirts—shorter in Australia than in Hawaii and much longer in Frisco she found when she arrived here—

But that doesn't worry Ivy. She's determined to replenish her wardrobe with the latest styles and then saunter forth to vamp some handsome Californian into purchasing a wedding ring, after which she will take him back to Australia as "friend husband," to meet Papa Deakin.

Public Opinions Body Appoints Committee to Back Height Limit Bill

When the Olson bill limiting building heights in Madison and other cities of the state comes before the assembly Tuesday morning, prominent Madison men and women who are in favor of the bill will crowd the galleries to bring pressure on the solons.

A committee of eight Madison women was appointed at a special meeting of the Public Opinion committee yesterday afternoon to arouse interest among Madison people and to personally meet assemblymen for a discussion of the matter.

The committee which includes Mrs. A. E. Proudfit, Mrs. M. V. O'Shea, Mrs. W. S. Marshall, Mrs. Louis Kahlenberg, Mrs J. B. Ramsay, Mrs. Burr Jones, Miss Susan Sterling, and Mrs. A. M. Fish, last night met with Assemblymen Salter and Eber. Both of these men favor the bill.

A general discussion of the bill was held at the special meeting of the Public Opinion body at the home of Mrs. A. E. Proudfit yesterday afternoon. It is the unanimous feeling of this body of women that buildings should be limited to 100 feet in Madison as protection to the beauties of the state capitol.

The Olson bill would limit buildings to 125 feet in Milwaukee and 100 feet in other cities of the state.

8,000 Wagons in 30-Mile Parade Would Be Needed to Carry Friday's Water Supply

If Madison had to cart its water supply, 8,000 water wagons would have to be employed, forming a parade of 30 miles long to supply the city with the amount of water used Friday when 5,400,000 gallons were pumped at the central pumping station, it was estimated today by L. A. Smith, superintendent of the water department.

A million gallons of water were pumped daily over the average amount used in the city. This allows an extra 25 gallons a day for each person in Madison where the per capita consumption under average conditions amounts to about 100 gallons daily.

Without rain before Monday it is expected that the record will be broken Monday. The highest amount of water pumped in one day so far was that on Sept. 8, 1922 when 5,420,000 gallons were used.

Man Arrested For Driving While Drunk

Ray McEvilly is being held under $250 bail after pleading not guilty to charges of driving a car while intoxicated.

McEvilly and a brother, Thomas, were arrested near the Park hotel corner at 6:30 last night by Patrolman Michael Griffin when they drove their car into a machine driven by a woman. A bottle of wine was found in the car. Thomas was arraigned in Superior court on a drunkenness charge. He pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs.

Won't Ban Daylight Saving At Once, Rule

The opinion was expressed by Governor Blaine today that cities now operating under day light saving would not be compelled to change their time due to the recently enacted law prohibiting any but standard time. Appeals by Wisconsin municipalities which have their clocks set an hour ahead caused the expression. The attorney general let it be known that he would not prosecute cities for failing to abide by the law at once.

No Legislation On Lungmotors Introduced

No legislation concerning lungmotors or pulmotors was introduced at the session of the common council last night. It was reported that there would be a resolution introduced asking that several more of the life-saving devices be bought by the city to better equip its bathing beaches.

Manitoba Is Wet By Big Vote

Vote System Of Government Sale And Control Of Liquor

(By the Associated Press)

WINNIPEG, Man — Voters of Manitoba adopted by popular vote on Friday a system whereby intoxicating liquors will be sold by the government.

Winnipeg gave the proposal a majority of 25,000 and scattered reports from all over the province indicated that the measure was sure been entirely prohibited.

Many small urban centers, where prohibition advocates claimed their strongest vote, gave a wet majority.

The vote was taken on the actual text of a bill submitted to the legislature by the moderation league. The bill provides for a commission of three to control the liquor system and to establish government stores for its sale. In Winnepeg and in such other cities and towns as considered advisable residents and visitors over age would be sold annual permits at $1 for the purchase of liquor or permits at 50 cents for a single purchase.

The permit would be exhibited at the time of purchase, but the liquor would be delivered and would not be taken from the government store by the purchaser.

Breweries would be permitted to sell direct to permit holders, making monthly returns of sales and paying a tax, not yet determined, on all deliveries.

Such liquor as purchased could be consumed or kept only in the home of permit holders.

A provision also was made that districts could eliminate government stores by local option, while profits derived from the system would be equally divided between the province and municipalities.

On July 11 another referendum would be submitted to a vote, sponsored by the Beer and Wine league and the Hotel Men's association. It would make legal the sale by licensed hotels, with meals, of beer and light wines, and by licensed brewers of beer to the consumer's residence.

Quebec and British Columbia have adopted measures similar to the one voted on Friday.

We're Not Only Ones; Alaska Is in Grip of Heat

WASHINGTON—Alaska has suffered from the heat wave. At Eagle the temperature yesterday reached 84, with Juneau reporting 70. It was relatively cool in Honolulu, where the maximum was 80. The Alaskan heat is attributed to the calmness of atmospheric conditions there and the advance of the six-months term of sunlight, while the freezing temperature in New Mexico is explained as due to currents of air which were driven down the Pacific Coast, from the Polar region. The temperature at the island of Jan Mayen this morning was 34, at Spitzbergen, 26; London, 60; Paris, 56; Vienna, 54; Lisbon, 8; Copenhagen, 52, and the Azores 66.

Two Trips To The Yellowstone FREE!

THE Capital Times is going to send two of its readers on vacations to Yellowstone National park.

The Capital Times has completed all arrangements for two trips, WITH ALL EXPENSES PAID, for a vacation tour that will begin at Madison on Aug. 11th, a two weeks' tour through Yellowstone park and return to Madison on Aug. 24.

Beginning with this issue, a coupon will appear daily on Page 1. This coupon will appear each day until Saturday, Aug. 4th, inclusive. This coupon will be good for 25 votes. The two persons who have the highest number of votes on August 4 will be awarded the trips to Yellowstone National park.

The daily coupons appearing in the paper must be turned in to The Capital Times each week. Thus the coupon that starts with this issue and runs until Saturday, June 30 will not be good unless turned in by the following Wednesday. July 4, The coupons which appear during the week, from Saturday to Saturday, must be turned in each week on the following Wednesday. This is done in order to facilitate the count.

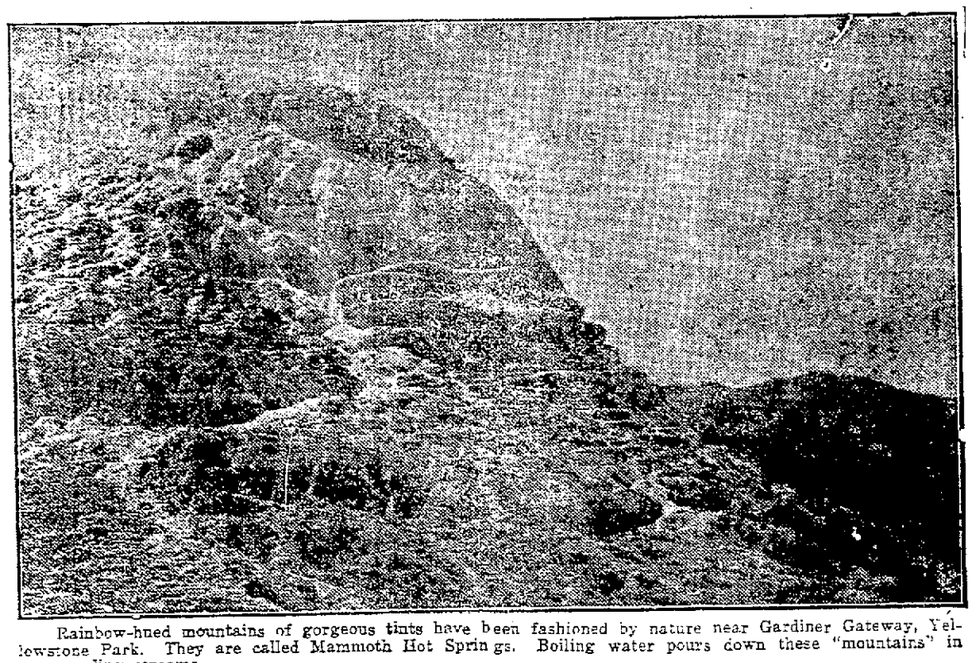

In addition to the daily coupon, additional votes will be given to those who obtain new subscribers for The Capital Times. To every person who obtains a new subscription, either in the city of Madison or by mail, 25 votes will be awarded for each month of prepaid subscription. Thus a person who obtains a new subscriber, either city or mail, will be credited with 150 votes for six months' subscription or 300 votes for a year's subscription.

This opportunity to obtain a free trip to Yellowstone park is open to every reader of The Capital Times,—whether living in Madison, Dane county or the state at large. Employes of The Capital Times and members of their families are barred from participation in this contest.

Those who do not win a trip to Yellowstone will receive 40 per cent of the amounts turned in for subscription as cash prizes. Thus, for each prepaid city subscription of $6 a year the sum of $2.40 will be paid to the person turning in the subscription. To the person turning in mail subscriptions at $4 a year the sum of $1.60 will be paid for each subscription. Proportionate amounts will be paid for subscriptions for less than a year.

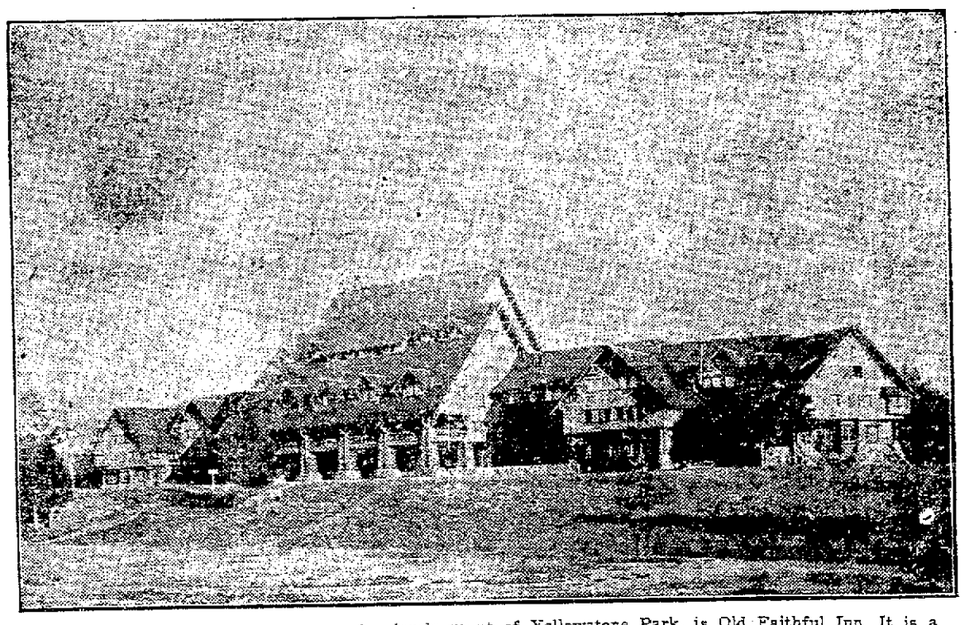

Get busy with this issue if you want to see the wonders of Yellowstone National park. Clip the coupons from day to day, enlist your friends to save their coupons for you. Just remember that August will be a mighty hot month in Madison and that two weeks in the beautiful mountain scenery of the Yellowstone will be worth a little work and effort now.

Mammoth Terraces In Yellowstone Park

Rainbow-hued mountains of gorgeous tints have been fashioned by nature near Gardiner Gateway, Yellowstone Park. They are called Mammoth Hot Springs. Boiling water pours down these "mountains" in never-ending streams.

Old Faithful Inn Yellowstone Park

Typical of the genius entering into the development of Yellowstone Park, is Old Faithful Inn. It is a log cabin glorified into a modern hotel.

Here Is The Itinerary

Saturday, August 11th—Leave Madison for St. Paul, Minn. at 10:30 P. M. via Northern Pacific Ry.

Sunday, August 12th—Enroute through the Famous Dyrsmyt Park, or Bad Lands Region where the historic Medora ranch, once owned by the late Theodore Roosevelt is located. Thence along the Yellowstone river valley, scene of Indian warfare in the past.

Monday, August 13th—Through the beautiful Paradise Valley and Yankee Jim Canyon in open observation cars. Arriving Gardiner, Mont. (northern entrance) 1:30 P. M. Automobiles will meet our party on arrival and pass through the scenic Gardiner Canyon, arriving at Mammoth Hot Springs, the capital of Yellowstone Park, in time for luncheon. The afternoon will be spent visiting the great steaming terraces and formations, including the great buffalo corral and many other attractions. The general panorama here is one of the most inspiring in the Park.

Tuesday, August 14th—Leave Mammoth Hot Springs, 9:00 A. M. passing through the impressive Golden Gate Canyon, thence to Norris Geyser Basin, the marvelous Porcelain Paint Pots and the great Fountain Geyser to Upper Geyser Basin arriving in time for luncheon. Within two miles of the greatest Geyser region in the world. Some are literal volcanoes of water. Old Faithful the most famous of all Geysers and many beautiful others are in the near vicinity.

Wednesday, August 15th—Leave Old Faithful, 2:00 P. M. The trip over the great Continental Divide is one of constant variety, each wonderspot seeming but the prelude to something more inspiring and the mountain scenery of the Park is seen to exceptional advantage. Arrive at Yellowstone Lake in time for dinner. Yellowstone Lake elevation 7,741 feet, is the second highest in the world and the Absaroka Range of snow capped mountains rises from its edge to altitude of 11,000 feet.

Thursday, August 16th—Leave Yellowstone Lake, 9:00 A. M. passing through the beautiful Hayden Valley. Arrive Grand Canyon in time for luncheon. The glories of the Great Falls and the beauty of the Canyon are such that language is entirely inadequate to convey a just conception of the grandeur and sublimity of this most beautiful of nature's handiwork.

Friday, August 17th—Will be spent at Grand Canyon.

Saturday, August 18th—Leave Grand Canyon 9:15 A. M. passing through the beautiful Sylvan Pass, with luncheon at Pehaska Tepee and following the wonderful Shoshone River. A thrilling ride through the magnificent Shoshone Canyon is a fitting climax to the Park trip. Arrive at Cody, Eastern Gateway, in time for dinner.

Sunday, August 19th—Leave Cody 7:20 A. M. via the Burlington Route. Passing through the scenic Big Horn River Canyon.

Monday, August 20th—Arrive at Denver 10:05 A. M. Party will stop at Hotel Albany and after luncheon take auto tour around the city and foothills to the summit of Lookout Mountain.

Tuesday, August 21st—Leave Denver 8:45 A. M. via Colorado & Southern Ry. arriving at Colorado Springs 11:10 A. M. Party will stop at the Hotel Alta Vista and after luncheon take auto circle tour around the Garden of the Gods, Seven Falls, South Cheyenne Canyon, Cave of the Winds, Crystal Park and Manitou.

Wednesday, August 22nd—Party will spend day in sight-seeing around Colorado Springs and Manitou, foot of Pike's Peak, leaving it optional for those who care to do so to take trip to Summit. Leaving Colorado Springs 6:45 P. M. via Colorado & Southern Ry. arriving at Denver 9:15 P. M. Leave Denver 9:45 P. M. via the Burlington Route.

Thursday, August 23rd—Passing through the great wheat fields of Nebraska. Arriving Omaha 3:30 P. M. leaving Omaha 6:05 P. M. via C. M. & St. P. Ry.

Friday, August 24th—Arrive Madison.

Yellowstone Falls Twice The Heighth Of Niagara

THE GREAT FALL OF THE YELLOWSTONE RIVER

Among the wonders of Yellowstone Park are its waterfalls. There are scores of them but the mightiest of all is the "Great Fall", which pours an avalanche of water to rocks 308 feet below.

The Northern Pacific Railway runs for 300 miles along the beautiful Yellowstone River before reaching the Gardiner Gateway to Yellowstone Park.

Routes Taken

Will Install Grave Markers Tomorrow

Graves Of War Veterans Will Be Dedicated By Legion

PROGRAM

3 p. m. services begin, Dr. R. C. Montgomery presiding. Song, "America," by assembly.

Invocation by Major Charles E. Butters, post chaplain.

Sacred music, by Scherer's band.

Address, by Harrison L. Garner, post commander.

Sacred music, by Scherer's band.

Presentation of Legion marker, by Spencer A. Lucas, post adjutant.

Benediction, by Major Butters.

Salute, by firing squad.

Taps, by bugler.

The graves of 66 ex-service men and women in the three local cemeteries will be dedicated tomorrow afternoon when services will be held at the grave of William B. Cairns, Jr., first Madison man killed in action during the World war. The services will be held under the auspices of the William B. Cairns post, No. 57, American Legion, assisted by its women's auxiliary and by the Service Star legion.

Since the inception of the idea to set aside a day for grave dedication services several months ago, and the desire of the local post to install markers, Dr. Robert C. Montgomery, chairman of the memorial committee of the post, assisted by members of the post auxiliary and of the Service Star legion, has been collecting data with reference to the deceased ex-service people who entered service from Madison. The post secured 73 markers, 71 of which have been engraved with the name, rank, organization and date of death of the deceased. Five of the markers have been placed on graves outside the city, while the balance will be installed Sunday.

A group of Legionaires will place 65 of the markers tomorrow morning, reserving the one for Sgt. Cairns for the services in the afternoon.

The services will be presided over by Dr. Montgomery. Relatives of the deceased and ex-service men and women will gather at the rest room of Forest Hill cemetery and will proceed to the grave of Sgt. Cairns.

A firing squad of ex-service men, commanded by Lieut. James Mahoney, will fire the salute over the grave. The services will be concluded with the sounding of taps by a bugler.

The program has been prepared by Mrs. R. T. Hess and Mrs. George F. O'Connell.

Alberto Salvi, Harpist, To Play In Madison, Mozart Club Announces

The Mozart club announces the engagement of the renouned harpist, Alberto Salvi, for a concert in Madison October 2. Salvi, who is a Victor Red Seal artist, is known in Madison, having performed to the delight of a large audience three years ago. Since that time his triumphs have been many. In New York, Chicago, Milwaukee and many other cities of the United States he has played to packed houses, and wherever he plays there is an insistent demand for his re-engagement.

The May issue of "Good Housekeeping" contains an account of his achievements with a picture of the artist and his harp. In this article Alice Booth pays the following tribute to Salvi:

"And now Alberto Salvi has come to give us that thrill for ourselves, to write his name in the list of immortal masters of the harp, perhaps a little higher than all the rest. For he plays—perhaps no one has ever played as he can play. Never was there a speed like his, speed that sends bursts of golden notes tossing like wind-swept sparks against the background of the night."

Rural Church School Opens Here Monday

Advancement Of Country Life Is Aim Of Conference

The second annual rural church conference under the auspices of the college of agriculture will be held here from June 25 to July 6.

In addition to the main school, the Episcopal church pastors, under Dean C. N. Lathrop, executive secretary of the national department of social science, will meet to discuss the relation of the Episcopal church to rural affairs.

In order to enable pastors attending the conference to choose the type of work they wish to take, two programs have been prepared. Professors of the college will give instruction in advanced farm science, while leading churchmen will discuss religious topics relating to rural life.

Edwin V. O'Hara, of the rural life bureau of the National Catholic Welfare council, Eugene, Ore., is expected to attend the conference. Ralph A. Felton, Philadelphia, representing the training committee of the home missions council of the Protestant churches of America, will conduct the discussions on the "Church and Community Welfare."

An institute for chapter workers of the American Red Cross will also be held in connection with the conference.

Included in the program of instruction on farm topics to be studied by the pastors are: lectures in animal husbandry by Prof. G. C. Humphrey; in community survey and organization, by E. Tetreau; boys' work, by I. L. Bewick; agricultural economics and co-operative marketing, by Profs. Hibbard and Macklin; sociology and community life, by Prof. J. L. Gillin; recreation leadership, by Prof. E. B. Bordon; and auto mechanics, by F. W. Duffee.

Court House Becomes Oven Under Blazing Rays of Sun; Officials Seek for Comfort

HEAT has invaded the court house, slowing up the machinery of the county.

Behind their desks courthouse officials sit today pondering perspiringly on the wonders of nature while electric fans are synchronized in an attempt to manufacture arctic temperature. Window shades have been drawn in most offices to shut out the penetrating rays of warm old Sol.

In the office of C. A. Lewis, register of deeds, only ten instruments were filed yesterday. It was only a week ago that this office handled the record-breaking number of 80 instruments.

Even Cupid who June 1 started breaking all records in the office of County Clerk George J. Fjelstad, has retired under the withering rays of the sun. Only two marriage licenses were taken out yesterday in this office. An average of seven licenses have been taken out every day for the previous two weeks.

Criminal activities are on the decline with the rising temperature. There were only six new cases in Judge O. A. Stolen's Superior court yesterday. Four of these were cases of drunkenness. The other two were minor traffic offenses.

Edward Walden, clerk of this court, himself succumbed to the heat yesterday afternoon and declared he would "wear no man's collar". Walden has taken his off.

On the floor below Walden, Nat Biart, clerk of Judge A. C. Hoppmann's Superior court, has gone on his vacation while that court stands still.

Both Judge Stolen and Judge Hoppmann are on the job.

Only one new paper was filed in the office of Herbert Hansen, clerk of the Circuit court. Usually there are 10 or 15 papers filed there a day. Hansen himself and his deputy clerk, Martin Tollund, disappeared yesterday when the temperature in their office threatened to bake the occupants.

Judge E. Ray Stevens is working at home this week, laboring over law papers and typewritten testimony of the suit of he Burgess Battery Co. against the French Battery and Carbon Co.

Lawrence Larson, deputy sheriff in the office of Sheriff Julius Krug declared today he hadn't noticed the skyrocketing of the mercury. There are others in the court house would like to murder Larson for that statement. Sheriff Krug himself and Undersheriff William Mc Cormick are kept on the run all over the county.

Oscar Karn who runs the elevator invented a method of keeping cool that cannot be beaten. When he feels old man Heat descending the elevator shaft, Oscar runs his coupe up and down the shaft, creating a draft. Oscar calls the old wagon the "Toonerville Trolley."

Ship Has Hard Journey On Upper Mississippi

ST. PAUL, Minn.—The steamer Harry G. Drees sailed from St. Paul early today on its return to St. Louis, Mo., and marks the season's first round trip for a passenger craft on the upper Mississippi. The Drees docked here late last night after a strenuous journey 25 miles from Hastings because of low water and sand bars. "I've been on the river for about 35 years," said Captain Ben Winters, "and this is the toughest job I ever drew. Never in my experience has the Mississippi been so low."

East Side Merchants Plan Annual Picnic

East side merchants plan to hold their first annual picnic July 11 at St. Bernard's park. The merchants will close shop at 10 o'clock and will take their families to the park to participate in a program being arranged by a committee.

Relieve scalp irritations with Resinol

Eczema and dandruff are among the most frequent causes of baldness and too much care cannot be exercised in getting rid of them. The Resinol treatment is an easy method.

Shampoo with Resinol Soap, working the lather well into the roots of the hair. Rinse thoroughly and when wholly dry, spread the hair apart and gently rub into the scalp a little Resinol Ointment. If done carefully little ointment will get on the hair. Ask your druggist for Resinol.

Stop Drownings Here---Learn How

State Board of Health Issues Bulletin Telling How to Save People From Water Death; Details of Resuscitation Explained; People Should Know Code

DROWNING claims more victims annually than the combined deaths caused by railroads, street cars, and gunshot wounds in Wisconsin, according to a bulletin issued by the state board of health. Last year 201 deaths were caused by drowning as compared with 110 by railroads, 28 by street cars, 237 by automobiles, and 51 by gunshots. In 1921 268 drownings were reported in the state most of the victims being young people in the prime of life, the report shows.

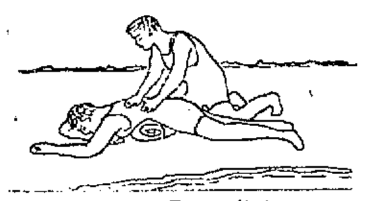

Five minutes under water is the limit set at which a person may be resuscitated although the department advocates that every measure to restore the person should be used as there may yet be a chance of restoring life if there is the least amount of heart action remaining. The board advocates that the body be taken from the water as quickly as possible preferably with the rescuer remaining on shore if possible. A long pole, rope or other long object should be used or wood of any kind thrown into the water near the drowning person which he may grasp and keep himself afloat. When these means are unavailable then naturally a person is forced to enter the water after the one in danger. The Schaeffer method of resuscitating a drowned person is that advocated by the board.

Bathing in sewage polluted waters is dangerous, the report states. In this manner many epidemics such as typhoid fever find their source. No water should be utilized on streams below cities or other habitations.

How to Save Victim in Water

Illustration shows rescuer, grasping victim by the hair of his head, and swimming or floating on his back. This means of support requires the least exertion on the part of the rescuer and he may remain in the water for considerable time.

How to Resuscitate

Figure shows the position of the bodies of the victim and the rescuer after a landing has been made.

HOW TO RESCUE

1. When you approach a person drowning in the water, assure him in a loud and firm voice, that he is safe.

2. Before jumping in to save him, divest yourself as far and as quickly as possible of shoes and outer clothing;; tear them off if necessary.

3. On swimming to a person, if he is struggling be careful how you approach and seize him. If possible fix your hold when the person becomes quiet, for it is frequently dangerous to take hold of a man who is struggling in the water.

4. Then get close to him and take fast hold of the hair of his head, turn him as quickly as possible onto his back, give him a sudden pull, and this will cause him to float; then throw yourself on your back also and swim for the shore, having hold of his hair, you on your back and he also on his, and, of course, his back to your stomach. In this way you will get sooner and safer ashore then by any other means, and you can easily swim thus with one, two or three persons. One great advantage of this method is that it enables you to keep your head up, and also to hold up the head of the person you are trying to save.

5. It is said that there is no such thing as a death grasp on the part of a drowning person. This is doubtful. The rescuer should always realize that a drowning man immediately prior to what is known as a death grasp frequently exerts unusual strength. These possibilities should be taken into consideration while rescuing.

6. After a person has sunk to the bottom, if the water be smooth, the exact position where the body lies may be known by the air bubbles which will occasionally rise to the surface. Often times a body may be regained from the bottom before too late for recovery by diving for it in the direction indicated by these bubbles.

7. On rescuing a person by diving to the bottom, the hair of the head should be seized by one hand only and the other used in conjunction with the feet in raising yourself and the drowning person to the surface.

8. If in a lake a long distance from shore, it may sometimes be a great error to try to make land. If you have hold of a person who cannot swim, get on your back and float till help comes.

The popular idea that a drowning person rises to the surface three times is apparently incorrect. Some persons never come to the surface at all. Others come up once, so no assumption should be made that the rule of coming up three times will always hold true.

RESUSCITATION

Lose no time in reaching the body, recovering it from the water, freeing the lungs of water and beginning resuscitation while some one is calling a physician.

Rule 1. Always try to restore life; do not lose time by taking the body to a place of shelter.

Rule 2. Quickly lay the patient face downward, with stomach resting on a barrel or roll of clothing, so the head will be lower than the rest of the body and the water will run out from the throat and lungs. Wipe dry mouth and nostrils. Wrap the corner of a handkerchief about the forefinger and clear the mouth of all mucus and slimy substance back as far as the top of the throat. Rip open the clothing on chest and back, and keep the face exposed to the air. Separate the jaws and keep them apart with a cork, stone, piece of wood, or knot in a handkerchief. With a handkerchief or piece of dry cloth draw the tip of the tongue out of one corner of the mouth which prevents the tongue from falling back and choking the entrance of the windpipe, and keep it projecting a little beyond the lips.

Rule 3—Remove the roll of clothing from underneath the patient's stomach. Place the arm of the patient under the forehead. Kneel by the side of or across the patient. Place your hands, elbows supported by the knees over the lowest ribs. Lean forward and put your weight straight over the lowest ribs sufficient to compress the ribs, making allowances for children so as not to injure them. Exert this pressure for three seconds. To count three seconds, say: "One thousand and one, one thousand and two, one thousand and three."

Rule 4 — Do not remove the hands from the ribs; but release the pressure from the ribs for two seconds, by squatting backward. To count two seconds, say: "One thousand and one, one thousand and two."

Rule 5—Again exert pressure straight over the lowest ribs for three seconds, as described in Rule 3; then again release pressure for two seconds, as described in Rule 4. Alternate thus (three seconds pressure and two seconds release) about 12 times a minute, until breathing is restored. This method of resuscitation at once expels water and produces the identical results of normal breathing.

Be careful not to interrupt the first breaths. If they be long apart carefully continue between them the movements, bellows blowing as before described. If breathing ceases continue the movements as before, a smart slap on the face will sometimes start breathing again.

Rule 6. If another person is at hand to assist, let him do everything possible to keep the body warm.

Rule 7. Do not give up too soon. Send for a physician as soon as possible. Keep up efforts at resuscitation until the physician has arrived. Prevent friends from crowding around the patient and excluding fresh air.

DROWNINGS CLAIM TOLL

Wisconsin's death list from drowning as compared with other leading causes of violent deaths for the last five year period is given following. The columns are numbered and correspond thus: (1) drowning; (2) railroads; (3) street cars; (4) autos; (5) gunshots.

Nakoma Club Is Dedicated This Afternoon

Program Held; First Ball Shot By Mayor; Hold Elections

The new Nakoma Country club grounds were dedicated this afternoon when a special program, prepared by a committee consisting of Charles E. Brown, Voyta Wrabetz, and L. A. Anderson, was held. Judge E. Ray Stevens delivered the dedicatory address. Mayor Kittleson drove the first ball.

A business meeting has been called for 4 o'clock to elect permanent officers, and to plan for further improvement of the grounds. A partly permanent nine-hole course has been prepared by a force of men working under the direction of the club committee and Albert Edward Mayor, golf expert.

The members will also discuss the establishment of facilities for other outdoor sports, such as tennis, croquet, archery and baseball.

A baskee picnic supper will be partaken of by guests and members at 6 o'clock. The grounds have been decorated with flags and banners for the event, and a large canopy erected, provided with seats from which the Nakoma braves and their ladies may watch the play opening the new course.

Sues To Foreclose On Note Of $2,500

The National Guardian Life Insurance Co., today started foreclosure proceedings against Amanda Warner, et al., in Circuit court. Insurance Company Charges Fraud Used

The New York Life Insurance Co. today filed petition in Circuit court asking the dismissal of the counter-claim of Martha Holland in the insurance company's suit against that woman. The insurance people claim that Martha Holland cannot collect insurance on a policy taken out by Inez Holland because they allege that woman used fraudulent methods of securing the policy. The company claims that Inez Holland defrauded them regarding her health in May, 1921. She died in August the same year.

Invite Council To View Mendota's Shores

An invitation to view the shores of Mendota from the decks of "The Isabel," university life boat, was extended to the city council by Capt. Thomas Isabell, through Ald. J. H. Behrend. The proposed trip was placed in charge of Ald. Behrend for final arrangement. Ten aldermen can be taken at a time.

"Fair and Warmer" Comedy of Married Life

Agnes Ayres and Mahlon Hamilton In The Heart Raid er" at Majestic

Dorothy La Vern Leading Woman In La Vern Stock Company

Walter Hiers and Jacqueline Logan "In Sixty Cents an Hour" at The Madison

Scene From "Third Alarm" at Parkway

Dorothy Dalton, Theodore Kosloff, Tully Marshal, and Charles De Roche will be seen at the Majestic theatre for the last times today in "The Law of the Lawless." The program is completed by a two reel Carter De Haven comedy "Private Keep Off" and the latest International News weekly.

Agnes Ayres in "The Heart Raider" will be the feature attraction at the Majestic Sunday to Tuesday.

The star, in the role of Muriel Gray, a speed girl member of the fast social set at Palm Beach, is known as one who gets everything she sets her heart on. And when she decides to win John Dennis, a wealthy bachelor, he turns her down. When he decides to escape in his yacht, she swims out to the vessel, and on getting aboard induces the captain to permit her to remain. When Dennis discovers her the next morning, dressed in a bathing suit and sou'wester, he decides to put her ashore. A severe storm arises, and then follow several thrilling scenes and a decidedly novel climax.

STAGE COMEDY SURE CURE FOR BLUES

The first performance of the farce comedy treat "Fair and Warmer" will be given by the Dorothy La Vern Stock Company at the Orpheum theatre tomorrow and remaining all next week. Manager S charnberg is delighted with the manner in which his company have rehearsed the famous play. The story of "Fair and Warmer" has to do with two young married couples who live in the same New York apartment house, one above the other. Billy and Laura, whom the infatuated husbands refers to affectionately as "Lollie," find themselves face to face with possible separation because she insists that he is a natural born stay-at-home while she yearns for and must have her evening out. Asked by her husband what he has done to deserve such a fate, Laura tells him nothing and that there lies the crux of all their unhappiness. From this premises, filled with funny situations and lines, develops the merriment of the balance of the play. Director Al Jackson and Scenic Artist Roy McNeil and their assistants have seen that the staging of the comedy is above the ordinary, with the result that the scenes in Billy's New York home will represent the acme of skillful stagecraft. "Fair and Warmer" opens with a laugh, keeps the laughter ball rolling during the entire performance and sends its audiences out chuckling at the adventure of the people in it. For the blues it is the greatest sugar pill that any prescription could produce.

WALTER HEIRS STARS IN NEW COMEDY

"Sixty Cents an Hour and Drive It Yourself. First Class Cars for Hire." So reads the sign in front of Grogan's garage in the Paramount picture "Sixty Cents an Hour," starring Walter Heirs which comes to the Madison theatre Sunday for a three day engagement. Autoists can imagine the comedy in a scene of anyone unfamiliar with a car taking his sweetie out for a spin. The ride is sure to end more or less disastrously, as it does in the case of Jim Kirk, played by Walter Heirs, in this comedy. Heirs awakes from a daze to find Mamie Smith, played by Jacqueline Logan; a Ford roadster and himself in a heap after crashing through the side of a barn and landing none too gently in a pile of hay. This episode is but one of many uproariously funny incidents. Alexius Baas, Madison's popular base-baritone, will appear at all evening shows Sunday. Monday and Tuesday and will sing "Where Monona's Water's Play." Betty Compson, in "The Woman With Your Faces," will be featured for the last times today.

BIG RACE FEATURES "MIND OVER MOTOR"

Supporting Trixie Friganza, star of Ward Lascelle's screen adaptation of "Mind Over Motor," based on a Saturday Evening Post story written by Mary Roberts Rinehart, is a cast of well-known players. Among them are Ralph Graves and Clara Horton. Ralph Graves is one of the youngest leading men on the screen and is in considerable demand. In "Mind Over Motor" he is seen at his best, assuming a role in which he is called upon to participate in a spectacular race in which he almost lost his life as the result of a jamb.

"Mind Over Motor," will be shown at the Strand theatre for three days starting Sunday.

Last times today Marguerite De La Motte in "Wandering Daughters."

"THIRD ALARM" THRILLING FIREMAN YARN

Bryant Washburn and Helen Ferguson will be seen at the Parkway for the last times tonight in "Hungry Hearts," an unusually appealing and human interest picture. "Ouch," the Cameo comedy on the program is unusually good and the latest Kinograms brings its news of world events from far and near.

Starting tomorrow for four days only Ralph Lewis will be seen in a thrilling story of fireman's life called "The Third Alarm." Lewis and his supporting cast will be remembered for their work in the railroad story "Westbound Limited." "The Third Alarm" surpasses the former picture. An interesting story against the background of a fireman's life is ideal film material and in this picture it has been made the most of. The comedy on the program will be Christie's latest laugh provoker called "Back to the Woods." The Pathe Review and the latest Kinograms completes the bill.

Monday only in addition to the regular program episode five of "Plunder," the chapterplay featuring Pearl White will be shown. "To Beat a Knave" is the title of this chapter.

Bull Montana is coming in a screaming comedy burlesque of "Robin Hood" called "Rob 'Em Good."

Bandits Take Man's Clothes; Traffic Stops

CHICAGO — Peter Anderson, attired only in underwear and a straw hat blocked two elevated trains early today when he tried to run home on the elevated structure after an encounter with two negro bandits who took his clothes. The police captured one of the bandits, straightened out the traffic and restored his clothes to Anderson.

'Lulu Bett' To Be Presented At Orphuem

Zona Gale's Prize Play To Be Staged Beginning On July 1

Miss Zona Gale, author of both the book and the play, "Miss Lulu Bett," started writing at the tender age of seven years. After graduating from the University of Wisconsin, she served an apprenticeship on the New York World, writing many and varied short stories. The call of the middle west proved too strong, however, and Miss Gale returned to the little white house in Portage, Wis., where she began the series of domestic tales of that small town life which she knows so well. Among the best known of her works are the five books on "Friendship Village," "Pelleas and Etaree," "Birth," and, finally "Miss Lulu Bett."

Three acts of delightful comedy constitute "Miss Lulu Bett," which will be the offering of the Dorothy La Vern Players at the Orpheum week starting Sunday, July 1. The piece is a dramatization by the author of Zona Gale's popular novel of the same name. It presents one of the finest collections of character studies to be found on the metropolitan stage. The story is that of a young woman who becomes a household drudge in the home of her married sister by force of misfortune in her own family. The burdens that fall to her lot, in this luckless field of endeavor bring out the gold character that shines through the fog of pettiness and backbiting. Eventually the slavey gets her chance. She marries twice—the first time disastrously—the second happily—it is hoped. Suffice it that the working out of the plot provides two hours of the most splendid entertainment.

"Lulu Bett" won the Pulitzer prize for the best play last year.

Cleveland-Bloodgood Wedding Leads Series of Coming Nuptial Events in Madison

Grace Church Will Be Scene of Elaborate Wedding Event

By ROWENA BROWN

EXTREMES have it in the social news of the week. Activities during the next few days will be either the heavy finery of social service and public welfare, working quietly, without recompense, or the delicate loveliness of entrancing little brides tripping down the aisle to altars banked with greens and fragrant flowers.

The outstanding wedding of the week is that of Miss Jane Cleveland, daughter of Mrs. Harlan Cleveland, 633 North Frances st., which will be married Saturday morning at 11 o'clock in Grace Episcopal church to Frances Bloodgood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Bloodgood, Milwaukee. The Reverend Paul Nelson, a relative of the Cleveland family, who will come from Richmond, N. J., will perform the nuptial service, and will be assisted by the Rev. H. H. Shires, rector of Grace church, and the Rev. Stanley Cleveland, brother of the bride.

The bride will be given in marriage by her brother, James Cleveland, from Glendale, Ohio. Mrs. Wheeler, organist, at the wedding will play Lohengrin's bridal as processional, and Mendelssohn's as recessional.

The bridal gown is an exquisite creation of crepe Roma embroidered in pearls, with straight lines of iridescent sequins banding the hemline, and pearl embroidered motifs clasping the drapery. The skirt falls in uneven hem line, and the sleeves and throat are finished with antique rose-point lace, a gift from the brides' grandmother. The tulle veil, tipped with the same lace, and showered with orange blossoms, is caught by a coronet of pearls and orange blossoms. The long court train of crepe Roma is edged with satin. A strand of pearls will be the only ornament which the bride will wear. She will carry an ivory prayer book with markers of white satin ribbon with flower buds.

The gowns of the remaining bridal party will be either in the pink-coral shades of organdie, or in a cool shade of lavender organdie. The bridesmaids, in orchid organdie frocks, with large hats of lavender tulle trimmed with lavender sweet peas, and carrying arm bouquets of spring flowers in the lavender and purple shades are: Miss Elinor Mueller, Davenport, Miss Mary Hamilton, Detroit; Miss Margaret Seller, Miss Jane Dewey, New York, Miss Mary Ella Ferguson, Miss Louise Black, Milwaukee, Miss Alberta Leonard, Mexico, and Miss Elizabeth Beecher, Omaha, Nebraska.

The bride's sister in lavender organdie with a hat and flowers similar to those of the bridesmaids will attend them to the altar.

Mrs. Harlan Cleveland will be gowned in black crepe and silk lace.

Ushers at the wedding are to include Douglas F. Newell III, Kenosha; Henry Scott Rubel, Waters Long Island; Willard Purnell, Kenosha; Dr. Neil, Madison; David Osgood Barnard, Detroit, Marshall Cleveland, Cleveland, Madison; Robbins, Milwaukee; South Salem, Ohio; Eric William Milwaukee.

Wheeler Bloodgood, Milwaukee, brother of the groom, will be best man.

Carrying the white ribbons that mark the pews are the small brother and sister of the groom, Elizabeth Hugh Bloodgood. The flower girl will be in orchid organdie and carry a wreath of pink flowers, and the boy will wear white jacket with white flannels.

Following the ceremony a bridal breakfast will be served at the bride's home, to members of the bridal party and the immediate families. The out-of-town guests are Mr. and Mrs Wheeler Bloodgood, Elizabeth and Hugh, of Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Cleveland, Glendale Ohio; Bishop Reese and daughter Miss Mary Reese, Princeton, N J the Rev. Williams also of Princeton; Miss Grace Gray, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. James Cleveland Glendale Ohio; The Frances Bloodgoods Turner, from Milwaukee.

Following a trip lasting about a month Mr. and Mrs. Bloodgood will be at their home on Woodlawn avenue, Chicago, and early in the fall move to West Fifty-sixth street.

The marriage of Miss Georgia Louise Fess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Fess, 119 East Doty street, to Warren Tuttle Landon of Washington, will take place this morning in St. Patrick's church at 8:30.

The bridal passage will be prettily decorated with a profusion of ferns and peonies. The bride, attended by her orchid georgette dress with iridescent beads, a picture hat to match, a shower of white Ward roses, lily of the valley, and orchid sweetheart roses. Her bridesmaid, Miss Arline Fess, sorority sister of the bride, will wear pastel green Roshanara with a large cream colored hat and will carry pink Ward roses.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast will be served to twenty-five guests and members of the family at the Woman's Building. The scheme of pink, white, and green will be used throughout the house, evident in the large bouquets of spring flowers around the room, smilax, and the pink tapers and candles on the tables.

Among the out-of-town guests for the occasion are Mrs. E. Diener, Burlington, and Mrs. Sam Groose, Rockford; Mrs. Charles Casey, Janesville; Miss Lillian Keller, Oak Park; Miss Gertrude Tesch, Kiel.

The bridal couple will leave on their honeymoon, going to Chicago for a few days, from where they will sail up Lake Michigan to Washington island and Green Bay, Trout lake, where they will spend a northern camp some time in the north during July.

The bride and the groom attended the University of Wisconsin, Miss Fess being a member of the class of 1923, taking one year in the course of the Wisconsin school of music and three years in commerce, and is a member of the Kappa Delta sorority. Mr. Carter graduated in 1922 from the manual arts course and is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity and Delta Phi Delta, honorary art fraternity. Since that time he has had charge of the manual training department in one of the Cleveland high schools.

Rival Printers Will Battle in Ball Game to Be Held at Annual Outing Sunday

The 23rd annual picnic of the Madison Typographical union will be held tomorrow in Monona park. Compositors and makeup men on Madison papers and in other printing establishments, with their families, will compete in the different events which have been arranged by the committee.

The spilling of gore is hopefully looked for when a baseball team from The Capital Times clashes with the team from the Wisconsin State Journal. An armistice, however, will be declared when "Jake" Schillinger and "Ted" Wilson put on their bibs to demonstrate how much ice cream two men can eat.

Arrangements for the picnic have been completed by a committee consisting of "Art" Poggemiller, chairman; Miss Alvina Bohn, Miss Irene Griffin, "Bill" Remmel, Ed Fox and John Yunger.

The competition events include a shoe race for children under 10 years of age; 50-yard dash for boys and one for girls; potato race for children; ball throwing, free-for-all race, balloon blowing contest and cracker eating contest for women; and a wheelbarrow race, three-legged race, ball throwing contest, and free-for-all race for men. A relay race by a man and a woman is also planned. Balloons will be furnished for the children.

Northwestern Woman's Club Busy in War and in Peace

THE Madison branch of the Northwestern Women's club, a large group of women loosely organized into a club that has as its chief mission the relief of suffering of any sort that might occur among families of men employed by the Northwestern railroad, will continue its work, throughout the summer.

Members of the club are immediately concerned with plans for the annual picnic, to be held next Thursday afternoon at Monona park. Officials of the road, with conductors, brakemen, engineers and firemen, to say nothing of any other employe of the road, will bring their families to the spot for the annual frolic. Mrs. Frank O. Lester, assisted by a large committee, is making detailed plans.

The interesting history of the club, its purpose, and its manifold accomplishments recently were recalled to the minds of a group of local members of the club, when they made a trip to Chicago to attend the annual luncheon held in the northwestern club rooms at the Central station.

As a Red Cross unit in Chicago, the Northwestern Women's club received its initiation.

With the war service came a corresponding home service that would not be stopped when the armistice was signed. At terminal stations over the entire railroad system, groups of women still eager to be of service to needy persons were organized with a few essential officers and christened the "Northwestern Women's club".

The Madison branch was organized two years ago, and since that time has gained constantly in size and efficiency.

Officers of the local club are Mrs. F. R. Melcher, president; Mrs. W. H. Hayes, Baraboo, vice-president and chairman of the ways and means committe; Mrs. A. G. Bower, chairman of the mutual service committee, whose numerous visits have brought much joy to hospital patient sand "shut-ins"; Mrs. H. B. Loucks, treasurer; Mrs. B. R. Kulp, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Frank C. Blunt, recording secretary; Mrs. Madge Kennedy, program chairman; and Mrs. Frank O. Lester, entertainment chairman. These are only a few of the numerous committee acting under the present system.

Alethea Smith To Enroll In Drama Course

Madison Girl, Active In Local Theatrical Work, Goes To N. W.

MISS Alethea Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Smith, 1148 Spaight street, will leave the city about the middle of next week to enroll in dramatic classes at Northwestern university during the summer session.

Numerous theatrical ventures have been counted in the school career of Miss Smith, both at central high and at the university. Studying with Miss Cornelia Cooper at the high school Miss Smith was first impressed with the methods employed by the Northwestern school.

At the university, Miss Smith was elected to Twelfth Night, which later merged with the other dramatic societies into The Wisconsin Players, of which association she is now vice-president and production manager.

During the time she is at Northwestern, Miss Alethea will live with sorority sisters at the girls' dormitory. Upon her return, she will take classes, and later plans to enter chautauqua concert work.

Registration Staff At U. W. Swamped As 5,000 Swarm Into City Today

It is expected that more than 5,000 students will have registered and paid their fees at the bursar's office when registrations close at 5 o'clock tonight. More than 4,000 registered last year.

Clerks registering incoming students, and professors arranging schedules, were "swamped" with work today as the students lined up to take their turns at registering, paying fees and consulting instructors. The line at the bursar's office formed this morning before the office was opened, and in a short time, with the addition of newcomers, it reached out the door of the administration office to the State st. curb, around the curb and along Park st. to University ave.

Women Here Review Work In Legislature

Progressive Association Surveys History Of Session

Reviewing the legislation which has appeared before the Wisconsin legislature this session, the state association of the Wisconsin Progressive Women met this morning in the G. A. R. rooms of the state capitol to survey the history and to forecast the future activities of the organization.

State officers were notified to appear with the chairman of numerous local associations. An an early hour this morning, about twenty-five women had registered.

Many Madison women appear on the list of state officials, which includes Miss Ada James, Richland Center, president; Mrs. Granville Trace, Dodgeville, vice-president; Mrs. Harold Proctor, Viroqua, secretary-treasurer, and other members of the executive board, Mrs. John J. Blaine and Mrs. C. D. Rosa, both of Madison. The finance committee has as its members Mrs. Margaret Patzer, Milwaukee, Mrs E. J. Brabant, Madison; Mrs. J. D. Beck, Viroqua, and Mrs. G. A. Widell, Superior.

Three out-of town women well known in Madison appear on the advisory committee, Mrs. Robert M. La Follette, Mrs. John Nelson, both of Washington, D. C. and Miss Zona Gale, Portage.

Chairman of standing committees are Mrs. Lloyd Green, La Crosse, anti-militarism; Mrs. W. Z. Mendelson, Madison, campaign; Miss Irma Hochstein, Madison, research; Dr. Jean Cooke, Darlington, auditing; and Mrs. Glenn Turner, Madison, legislation.

On the list of sub-committee chairmen are Mrs. Allen Roberts, Milwaukee, militarism; Mrs. C. D. Rosa, Madison; Humitt R. Grimm, Mineral Point, education; Miss Arita Koenen, Milwaukee, public ownership; Mrs. Edward Schmitz, Gays Mills, marketing; Dr. Elizabeth Woods, Madison, social welfare; and Mrs. John O'Rourke, Milwaukee, chairman of industry.

Local chairman are expected to register in large numbers today. Mrs. E. C. Hoebel, president of the local association, will represent the Madison chapter.

Lakes In North Divide Honors With Madison

Summer Plans Call For City Exodus As Water Beckons

HERE a lake, there a lake, everywhere lakes are calling Madison persons to leave the winter abodes and enjoy the informality of a summer home. Lakes in the northern part of the state divide honors with the four lakes of Madison.

Mrs. Robert Davis, 436 North Murray st., with her son, Dudley, leaves this morning to spend the summer months at Sturgeon Bay. During her absence Miss Helen Davis will reside at 434 Sterling ct.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Norgord, who with their daughters leave late in July for Albany, N. Y., where Mr. Norgord will continue service in the governmental agricultural commission, will spend the intervening weeks at their cottage on the opposite shores of Monona. Their oldest daughter, Miss Gladys, plans to leave the city Tuesday with Mrs. Frank H. Kennedy, a cousin, and return with her to Los Angeles for the summer months. The trip will be made by the northern route, with a short visit at Seattle. In the fall, Miss Gladys will return to resume her studies at the university.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Corp have just given up their home at 2114 West Lawn ave. to Prof. and Mrs. E. B. Hoyle, and have occupied their cottage at Mendota Beach.

The Runge summer home at Mendota Beach has been opened and Misses Lulu and Alma Runge are with their parents, Mr. and Runge, before Miss Lulu Runge, leaves for Chicago.

Mrs. Alda Eighmy is at her cottage on Waubesa, where she is entertaining the Correlative Arts club this afternoon at the annual picnic for their husbands and families.

Blaine Vetoes Bill For Change In Loan Law

Governor Blaine today vetoed a committee on corporations bill changing the Wisconsin building and loan association law to make the individual and not the piece of property the unit for determination of the amount of the loan. The governor said that this change in itself may not be objectionable, but declared that an amendment increasing the amount of paid-up stock and of installment stock that may be issued to any one person from $10,000 to $20,000 was objectionable.

MUSIC SCHOOL RECITAL

Pupils of the Wisconsin School of Music will give a recital Monday night at 8 o'clock. Students participating are Evelyn Schuetz, Myrtle Tenjiem, Dorothea Meyer, Eleanor Bond, Shirley Quinn, Dorothea Bond, Verna Anderson, Margaret Zink, Leona Mader, Frances Bjork, Ruth Purcell, Jane Simpson, Vincent Reilly, Ann Tappins and Marie Endres.

Marie Cary Is Back; Wins In Unique Career

Daughter Of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Cary Is Civic Entertainer

AFTER several years of absence Miss Marie Cary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Cary, W. Washington ave., has returned to the city and will be the guest of her parents for a few weeks.

During the time she has been in New York city, Miss Cary has been interested chiefly in dramatic pageantry, and theatrical publicity, and has been retained as a civic entertainer by the New York lecture bureau, to present programs of entertainment and education for the foreign-born in the east side districts.

It is as a "crusader," with a lesson to bring to her audiences, rather than as an executive that Miss Cary has been identified recently. That the world at large, child and adult, American and foreigner, needs to learn to play is her earnest conviction, and in the interests of providing civic activity in contests, parades, and dramatic productions Miss Cary has invested her time.

She has lectured on the "Romance in Every Day Life," before Italian audiences of the metropolis, who saw in the reflections of the daily newspapers only the sordidness and hopelessness of unpunished crime. Another lecture on "National Characteristics" she presented, devoting the first half of the program to description, and the second half to dancing.

Miss Cary's dramatic dancing will be remembered as one of the happy spots among productions given by local persons who have reached prominence. She is using it now as one of the effective means of bringing to her audiences the beauty and popularity of a new kind of drama which is being created on the stage of today.

Not only as a lecturer and entertainer, but also as a writer of dramatic pageantry, Miss Cary is making her name. Until now, practically all of her writing has been for children, and much of it has been to help create for the east side children of New York an adequate conception of the background of English custom and legends upon which so much of the American literature taught in public schools is based. With her intimate study of the theater, Miss Cary hopes to develop her writing into a more idealistic type of play that may be adapted to the American stage.

It is almost by coincidence that both Miss Cary and Miss Ruth Martin, also of Madison, should have chosen the American metropolis for their pursuits of sociological and dramatic interests. That both are daughters of prominent Madison families, and well known in the city only lends to the interest of the fact.

Ruth Martin, U. W. Grad, Is Winning Recognition in East

ANOTHER daughter whom the city may claim is Miss Ruth Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Martin, 627 Mendota ct., who in the two years between her completion of the university course and her graduate work last year won for herself recognition and unexpected responsibility among charitable institutions in New York city.

Associated with graduates from Wells, Bryn Mawr and Wellesley in Richmond Hill house, an immense settlement house endowed by private gifts, Miss Martin was engaged in presenting amateur entertainments, analyzing in case work, and in offering every kind of first aid, spiritual and physical, required by the persons in her district.

She has just returned to New York city after spending a year's post graduate work in Madison, and will be in charge of a large "fresh air" camp conducted in the Appalachian mountains. More than 200 children, mostly foreign born, will spend their summer vacations in the open, enjoying natural benefits that otherwise would be impossible.

OKLAHOMA-ARKANSAS FLOODS CAUSE $1,000,000 LOSS

Flood scenes in Oklahoma City.

With low outlying sections of the city under water and an unprecedented rush of water pouring at the city reservoir, ten miles west, Oklahoma City is prepared for the crest of the worst flood in the history of the city. The reservoir dam across the Canadian river valley, which every spring impounds the city's water supply for the year, has resembled a giant waterfall. Although the dam itself was said to be in no danger, the embankment separating the by-pass from the huge reservoir lake, was under water, and a torrent twenty-four inches deep was spilling into the lake. The flood has lasted many days.

And as the date of the melee—July 4—nears, ring fans are trying to place the two men and pick the winner. The fight should do one thing at least—establish Gibbons' exact status as a fighter. A victory for Thomas, however, will throw the heavyweight class into a muddle similar to that which exists in other classes and a series of battles will be needed to clear it up. A victory for Dempsey will place him on a firmer foundation in the public

Illini Golfer Wins 'Big Ten' Championship

R. E. Rolfe Shows Great Promise As He Cops

CHICAGO — Rial E. Rolfe, a young Chicago golfer of great promise, and captain-elect of the Illini team, won the Western Conference championship title yesterday at the Evanston Golf Club, defeating Gus Novotny, the present captain, 5 and 3 in the 36-hole final. Consistency from the tee, well placed seconds and approached and the sinking of several long putts were the features of the new champion's victory.

Novelty played a good game, but found the rough and traps occasionally and missed a couple of short putts that meant halves or wins.

Rolfe's victory gave Illini both the team and the individual titles, a feat that Chicago accomplished last year in the inaugural tournament.

Yankees Trim Boston 4 to 2; Giants Climb

Earl Smith Plays Mean Game Against Old Teammates

CHICAGO — With four teams in the American and two in the National idle yesterday the New York Yankees celebrated their departures on their "away from home," trip by defeating the Boston Red Sox 4 to 2. The Yankees two Bobs, Bob Shawkey and Bob Meusel played the stellar part in the win—Shawkey by pitching out of bad spots, and Meusel by good fielding and hitting.

In the Nationals the Giants climbed up another peg by drubbing Christy Mathewson's Boston Braves. Earl Smith, traded by the Giants to Boston recently, wielded a wicked bat against his former team-mates getting three hits, two singles and a homer in four trips, Felix, also of Boston got a home run but Scott kept the hits scattered and the Giants had the long end of a 9 to 5 score. The Pittsburg Pirates turned loose a broadside and scuttled the Cincinnati Reds.

Cubs Win In Hot Battle

The Cubs and Cardinals battled neck and neck until the eighth when Chicago put a pair of runs over the plate, winning 3 to 2. Seven out of 14 hits in the game were for extra bases, Smith of the Cards and Miller of the Cubs each getting a brace of two baggers.

Walter Johnson pitched the senators into a victory over the Philadelphia Athletic despite a home run by Perkins.

Both leagues broke even in the days' home run race with two each. "Cy" Perkins, catcher of the Philadelphia Athletics tied the Senators with a home run but Harris was unable to hold Washington who squeezed over the winning marker after two hits in the seventh.

First baseman Judge of Washington bagged three hits in three times at bat off B. Harris.

Red Sox Drop Game

Errors by Chick Fewster and Jack Quinn, former Yankees, enabled Bob Shawkey of the league leading New Yorks to win over the Boston Red Sox.

Vovel the former University of Illinois star was hit by a pitched ball but this blow forced over the run which gave the Chicago Cubs their second straight win over the St. Louis Cardinals.

May Suspend BennyLeonard In New Jersey

Must Meet Charley White Before Lew Tendler

NEW YORK — The New Jersey boxing commission on Friday notified the New York athletic commission that it would suspend Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, unless he fulfilled his unexpired contract to meet Charlie White. The New York commission will consider the matter at its next meeting on Tuesday. The Leonard-White match was called off after the champion received an injury to his mouth which kept him out of the ring for some time, meanwhile his manager, Billy Gibson, has matched him to meet Lew Tendler at the Yankee stadium on July 23. White wants Leonard to box him first.

Saturday afternoon at the French Battery field the Industrial league will play two baseball games on their regular schedule when Burgess Battery meets Madison College in the first game at 1:30. The French Battery and Marines will play the second game. Fuller & Johnson will have an open date.

In last Saturday's game Gratiot of the French Battery pitched a one hit, no run game against Madison College and won 8-0. Fuller & Johnson won from the Marines in a free hitting contest.

The league standing to date is as follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
French Battery	3	0	1.000
Madison College	2	1	.666
Burgess Battery	1	2	.333
Fuller & Johnson	1	3	.225
Marines	0	2	.000

YOUNG MERMAID WINNING AGAIN

Miss Eileen Riggin.

Little Miss Eilen Riggin, who proved the star of the last Olympic meet, is again setting the aequatic world ablaze with her feats. Her most recent achievement was an easy victory over a large field in the 100-meter free style swim at Rye, N. Y.

Roundy Says:

The Colored iGants Are a Scrappy Gang; Looks Like a Real Ball Game

The Madison Blues will swing into action today against the powerful Detroit Colored Giants, a team that they say is stronger than the Union Giants. If they are a large crowd should look a team of that class over.

The Colored Giants they say are a scrappy gang. Fighting all the time and you sure will get a nice eye full of ball if you come to this game.

Madison has new men and if they have it will go a long ways towards swelling the attendance. They sure need outfielders and if they have secured men of class then the fans will fight to get in—as that is what they have been yelling for.

* * *

The heads of the team have had plenty of time to get two fielders by this time going on two months or so. Not the best in the land but two good fielders and good hitters in this class of ball—they are hard to get but the others are landing them so we should get going on that stunt ourselves right now. What say.

* * *

The team has done a lot of practicing this week and are in a fighting mood to win ball games. They have more pepper than they had all spring and are on their toes.

* * *

The team needs your help right now and with the greatest colored team in the game playing them they will need your support more than ever. Come out and see if we can not get a win or two out of this series and help the team along. Out folks.

* * *

Call all things off for Sunday folks, get the children and the women folks out to see the funny colored man they carry with them and give the kids a laugh.

* * *

Squirt Rice had trouble with his arm and no one knew it. He had a doctor work on it and the soreness is all gone and he is in a fighting mood to get back of that plate right now.

* * *

It looks as if Dempsey could beat Gibbons at cards. Dempsey, they say has more cards in his hands than he has boxing gloves.

* * *

Water is a thing of the past in Shelby. They say that water has to be brought into the burg. As I get it straight, they will charge 25 cents a glass for water in your stay there. Put me down as carrying a sponge with me and keeping it in my mouth all wet.

* * *

It is stated that Gibbons knocked out Jimmy Delancy his sparring partner. If he k. o'd Jimmie I say folks he is hitting like a mule.

* * *

If Gibbons ever gets that sore and tender spot over Dempsey's eye open in that fight there will be dickens to pay. As Jack would be blinded badly with blood as it is a big cut if ever opened, it would be hard to tell what would happen.

* * *

As both battlers are right handed sockers the fight might go a long ways waiting for an opening. Both waiting to get that right in should take a few rounds to get going and an early ending can not be looked for. Unless they are going to stand toe to toe in a slugging bee.

* * *

One thing you can look for that Gibbons will be in greater shape than Dempsey. If it means anything in this fight.

* * *

Do You Believe It

That Tobey Curtis sent in that check that he promised the Madison Athletic association.

That football coach Richards sent me a bouquet of flowers for my birthday.

* * *

That John Kelly dropped his pocket book in the street car and did not chase the car for three miles searching everybody that got off the car.

* * *

That Shorty Barr is the headiest quarterback you ever saw play football.

* * *

That Art Reynolds the fisherman figures he has a weak throat due to the fact he don't talk enough.

Yale Oarsmen Trim Harvard In Two Events

Varsity Cops 4 Mile Race In 22:10 By 5 Lengths

NEW LONDON, Conn. — Yale swept to overwhelming victories today on the Thames River in the freshman, junior and varsity races. The opening features of the fifty-sixth annual regatta between these traditional rivals were the freshman and junior two-mile events.

The start in the varsity race was made at 8:05. They were off to an even break.

The crews took a steady, even stroke and clung together like the proverbial leeches and in the first quarter mile neither had any advantage. There was no splashing.

Yale was about one and one-half lengths ahead at the two-mile mark and at the finish was ahead by five lengths.

The official time was: Yale, 22:10; Harvard, 22:35.

The blue freshmen outstripped the crimson yearlings by fully five lengths, while the Eli junior varsity shell crossed the finish line five and a half lengths ahead of its Cambridge rivals in the morning.

It was the first time since 1920 that Yale has scored a clean sweep in the morning races. Since the Yale varsity has never been defeated Yale has high hopes of a triple triumph.

Navy Eight In Trial Spin Over Hudson

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. — The gold and blue cars of the Navy eight and substitute four oared shells dipped into the Hudson at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, fifteen minutes after the arrival of the Annapolis oarsmen at Highland on the west shore. Up and down the river on a five mile spin, Coach Gleudon sent his sweep swingers, who are the last to reach here in training for the intercollegiate regatta on June 28.

Bob O'Farrell Big Sensation; Hitting Steady

In 7 Games He Gets 13 Safe Clouts For Cubs

(By the Associated Press).

CHICAGO — Bob O'Farrell, catcher of the Chicago Cubs, has entered the mad scramble for batting honors in the National League, according to figures released today and which include last Wednesday's games.

O'Farrell started his drive several weeks ago, and in his last seven games, he made thirteen hits, four of which were four baggers. His great stick work has been a big factor in the Cubs' recent victories. O'Farrell has moved from eleventh place among the players who have participated in thirty-five or more games, to a triple tie for fourth place with an average of .365 compared with a mark of .336 a week ago. Ed Roush of Cincinnati who added only one point to his mark of the previous week and Johnny Mokan of the Phillies who suffered a slump are tied with the Chicago star.

Wheat Falls Off

Zack Wheat, the Brooklyn outfielder, has fallen off since the Dodgers' invasion of the West, but still maintains first place with a four-point margin over Charlie Grimm, the Pittsburgh Slugger. Wheat is hitting .389 compared with .409 a week ago. Grimes' average is .386 and Frankie Frisch of the Giants is right on the heels of the Pirate first baseman, with an average of .382.

Williams Leads Homers

"Cy" Williams of Philadelphia continues to lead home run hitters with 20 circuit drives. His 145 total bases also remain in that department.

George Grantham of the Cubs is tied with Sammy Bohne, of Cincinnati Reds for stolen base honors. Each has pilfered 13 sacks, the Chicago speedster, annexing six in the past week, while the Reds' phenom failed to steal.

Jones Expects BigEnrollment In U. W. Course

Over 400 To Attend Physical Ed. School Here

Registration in the physical education course at the university summer school is expected to exceed the 400 mark of last summer, T. E. Jones, head of the department announced here this morning.

"Although registration officially opens today we already have quite a number signed up," coach Jones said. Early registrations show men from Texas, Oklahoma, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and other surrounding states.

It is planned by coach Jones to get the men from the various states organized into groups for a baseball league. This was done last year and many fast games resulted.

A tennis tournament is also being planned.

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

By Ramon Coffman "Uncle Ray"

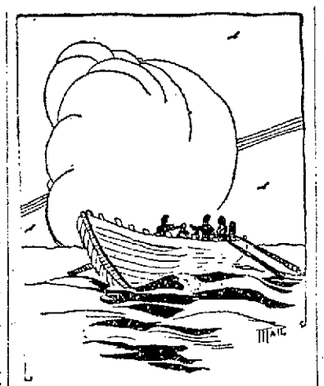

Chapter 58—Row Boats

IN THE Late Stone Age, men made much better boats then we have described before. They now had hatchets and axes with handles and they cut away much of each log, making it flat and board-like. The boards were fastened together. There were no nails in those days, but rope had been invented. Rope was used to hold the boards or planks in place.

Even if such planks were fitted together in a very careful manner, the boat would leak. To guard against this, the gummy sap of pine trees is believed to have been placed in cracks. This made the boats water-tight.

The vessels were so good, in fact, that men used them to travel hundreds of miles over the North Sea and the Mediterranean Sea. One proof of this is the presence of dolmens (huge stone tombs) on islands of these seas. All dolmens, it seems, were built by the same race, who spread over Europe, Asia, and northern Africa. The only way these people could have got to the island was by using boats.

Another thing that seems very likely is that cars were in use in the time of which we speak. These made men able to move their boats better than they could with pushing-sticks or paddles.

Copyright, John F. Dille Company.

The first trial of the oar may have come when a certain man become tired of paddling. Let us suppose that his boat had been built in a rough manner and that some of the stout sticks which helped keep the planks together stuck up over either side.

The man rested his paddle against the end of one of the sticks. He happened to pull the paddle back, and noticed it made the boat move. The movement was sidewise, it is true, but the idea of moving a boat in such a manner was there.

By and by, men learned to pull paddles (or oars) against the ends of sticks on both sides of a boat. They now built their boats much larger than in former times, and rowed them hundreds of miles, often over stormy seas.

prepared in exactly the same way as an ordinary omelet, save that a little grated cheese is added to the egg yolks with the seasoning before the whites are folded in. It may either be baked or fried in the usual way.

Date and Nut Pudding—For the date and nut pudding put one pint of milk in the upper part of the double boiler and add one ounce of butter and a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt. When scalded add eight ounces of cake crumbs, two ounces of sugar, two ounces each of chopped nut meats and chopped seeded dates and cook for four minutes longer. Remove from the fire, stir in the beaten yolk of one egg, and when cooled, the stiffly whipped egg white and a half teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Pour into a greased mould and steam for two hours.

A SUGGESTION

Cleaning Painted Walls—Dampen a soft cloth in warm water, rub on the cloth a small quantity of baking soda, wash a small part of the wall with this, rinse with clean warm water and wipe dry. Walls cleaned in this way look as if freshly painted.

Mrs. Thompson's Advice

SAYS HER HUSBAND IS SELFISH

Makes Her Work Hard; Denies Her Clothes; Should She Take Steps For a Divorce?

DEAR MRS. THOMPSON: I am a young girl twenty-one years of age. I married a young man five years my senior about one year ago. I, as well as everyone else, thought I made a splendid marriage. I soon found out after my marriage that he was selfish and not kind. He makes me work hard and never buys me any nice clothes and I am not having a nice time as I did before. Should I apply for a divorce or keep on living in this manner? Please tell me what to do.

LONESOME BOB.

If you are very unhappy and convinced that you and your husband cannot be happy together, divorce seems the only course. Perhaps, however, you have expected too much of marriage and not realized it is a contract to give as well as take. A man ought to want to make life happier and easier for his wife, while she in turn ought to consider her duty to her husband. When a woman marries a man with a large income it is only natural that she should expect him to provide help in the home and buy her attractive clothes. But if her husband has a small income, his wife should expect to do her own work, make her clothes last as long as possible, and work as hard as her husband does to get ahead.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been a widow more than six years with three little boys. A splendid man with a little son about the age of my eldest has come into my life. At first we were only friends because we were in sympathy with each other for our lives had been very much the same. But our friendship gradually grew into love and a year ago we became engaged.

He has given several excuses for our not marrying before this, which all seemed reasonable and I waited. Then we planned on marrying in July. About two weeks ago he told me his little boy was told of our intentions and he objected and said he would not live with us. After talking with him he gave in and now seems all right, but the father again is not satisfied. He says while he loves me dearly and if we do not marry he will never marry any one, he does not think marriage best.

Our hearts are broken and it seems as if we cannot give each other up. He says he is going to try to fight it out. Always before in my trials, and I have had many, I have been determined to pull through and have managed under many difficulties to work and keep my little boys with me. Now it seems more than I can bear. I cannot see any future without the man I love.

I thought perhaps it was a streak of blues that had come over him but he says not. He has been fighting this feeling for six months but could not tell me.

What do you suppose the trouble is? He offered to release me from my promise to him if I desired so that I might be free to go with others. With such love as we both have, won't God have mercy and make this man see what the trouble is that is making him hesitate?

PUZZLED.

The man wants a woman to love and enjoy as a companion, but he is not willing to take any chances on the future. Your friendship means a lot to him, but he cares only for his own enjoyment and is willing to sacrifice your happiness.

Of course, a widow or widower with a child or children has to be very cautious before marrying again, because happiness is impossible where the children are dissatisfied. The man realizes this and he is unwilling to take any chances on the future.

As long as you are made to suffer by seeing the man you love, realizing that he will not marry you, your courage will be broken. My advice is to tell him you think it is best not to see him again. As soon as he has gone out of your life, you will find it easier to be brave and face the future in the spirit you have met the past six years. Perhaps when the man sees he is losing you completly, he will realize how much you mean to him, and then he will want you as his wife. In either case it is better to take the matter in your own hands and be through with a situation which causes you to be so unhappy.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Is it affected to use candles on a dinner table when entertaining guests? I love them but I have the feeling that I am showing off when I use them.

HELEN S.

It is not affected to burn candles during a dinner. The effect is beautiful and entirely desirable.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We aretwo grils of 17. When we go to a movie would it be all right to let two boys we know well take us home?—G. and H.

If a young man is not sufficiently interested in your company to invite you to go with him to an entertainment of this kind he should not expect to accompany you home. And you should not go out unaccompanied depending upon a chance for someone to see you safely home.

The Story of an Artist's Wife
As Told to Grace Phelps

RUTH FEELS HERSELF THE VICTOR

I was relieved not to see any sign of Barclay or Lucy as we went toward the shack, but my relief was shortlived, for as we reached the door, Barclay threw it open and came out.

"Suppose you let me help my wife in," he said curtly and without waiting for Jack's reply, slipped his arm around my waist.

Jack released me instantly but his goodnatured smile was a trifle forced, I thought. I looked up at him in the light from the doorway mutely begging his pardon for Barclay's rudeness but he had already regained his composure.

"Now, old fellow," he said when we were all indoors, "I must insist on doing my share of the work if I'm going to stay."

Lucy had turned her back on our entrance and busied herself lighting the big oil lamp that stood on the deal table. She straightened up now and blew out the match.

"I don't recall hearing any one ask you to stay," she said.

Her remarks, I noticed, always had the effect of making Jack seem like a pricked bubble. Accustomed as he must have been to them, he never seemed to expect them and never had an answer ready.

"The beast!" I exclaimed under my breath and was about to come to his rescue aloud when Barclay forestalled me.

"I think Jack knows he is welcome without being told," he said quietly. "I brought his bedding over before dinner and I think we can find room for his cot beside mine in the lean-to."

I pressed his arm warmly in thanks for his spirit of fair play but his face was unsmiling as he helped me to my cot. He left at once to carry Jack's things outdoors and did not return to the shack. I got ready for bed thankful that I could now dispense with Lucy's help. She paid no attention to me whatever but when she too was ready for bed, she went to the window nearest the makeshift lean-to and called softly:

"Good night, Barclay!"

My cheeks burned in the darkness at her arrogance and I held my breath for Barclay's reply. To my amazement and delight there was no answer. Then Jack's drawling voice came to my ears.

"Fraid he's asleep Lucy. Let me say good night for him!"

There was a humorous note in his voice that made me stuff under the bed clothes to suppress my appreciative chuckle. Lucy made no reply but in the darkness I heard something that I felt sure was the stamp of a slippered foot on the floor.

I lay awake a long time reviewing the events of the day, beginning with Jack's unexpected appearance, the swift growth of our friendship and ending with Barclay's silence. I would have given much to know whether he was really asleep!

On the whole, however, I felt that I had come off fairly well that day. The morrow might tell a different tale but the honors of the first skirmish were mine.

Uncle Wiggily's Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND MOMMY BUNCH

"Are you all ready, Uncle Wiggily?" called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy in the bunny gentleman's hollow stump bungalow one day.

"Yes, I'm all ready," answered Mr. Longears. "I have on my best suit of clothes and my new necktie. Are you all ready, Janie?"

"Almost ready," replied the muskrat lady housekeeper. "I just need to fix my hair and put on my bonnet."

Uncle Wiggily sort of twinkled his pink nose to himself and made a funny face at the looking glass.

"I know what that means," he whispered. "It means Nurse Jane will be half an hour more, at least, getting ready. She always takes longer than I do." Then he called up the stairs:

"I'm going to walk around a little until you're ready, Janie."

"Well, be careful and not get your good clothes all dirt," advised the muskrat lady. She spoke as she might have talked to a little boy rabbit. And, as a matter of fact, Uncle Wiggily was a good bit like a boy—always getting into mischief or having adventures.

So Uncle Wiggily started to hop around in front of his hollow stump bungalow while waiting for Nurse Jane to fix her hair and put on her bonnet. Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy was getting "all dressed up," as the bunny gentleman called it. He and Nurse Jane were going to call on Mrs. Wibblewobble, the lady duck, and Nurse Jane made Mr. Longears put on his best clothes.

Along and along hopped Uncle Wiggily, farther and farther from his bungalow, until, all of a sudden, he saw Sammie and Susie Littletail, the rabbit children, hurrying along the woodland path.

"Hello, Sammie and Susie!" called Mr. Longears. "Where are you two jolly little tykes going?"

"We are going to see Mommy Bunch," answered Sammie.

"We are going to dig a well for Mommy Bunch so she won't have to carry her water from the far-off spring," added Susie.

"You are very good little rabbit children to do that," said Uncle Wiggily, "and I will hop along with you to watch you dig the well for Mommy Bunch."

Mommy Bunch was a poor little old rabbit lady, who lived all alone in the rickety log cabin, and she had the rheumatism.

"If she hadn't the rheumatism she could dig the well herself," Sammie said, as he and Susie and Uncle Wiggily hopped along together. "But she can't dig, and it hurts her to carry water from the spring."

"Oh, I know how rheumatism hurts!" murmured Uncle Wiggily with a shiver of pain.

Mommy Bunch, the poor, little old rabbit lady, was sitting in the sun outside her door when the three friends hopped along.

"We have come to dip your well," said Susie politely.

"Bless your dear heart!" murmured Mommy Bunch.

So Sammie and Susie began to dig. But the ground was hard and their little paws could not go down very deep—not half deep enough to come to water—for in most places water lies deep in the earth.

"You are all mud!" cried Nurse Jane.

"You'd better let me dig this well," said Uncle Wiggily, smiling.

"Oh, but you have on your good clothes!" objected Sammie.

"That matters not to me," said Uncle Wiggily, indifferent like. And so he began to dig. I wish you could have been there to see him make the dirt fly. No, on second thought, perhaps it is better that you were not there, for you might have gotten some dust in your eyes—and Uncle Wiggily certainly made the dust scatter.

Deeper and deeper he dug himself down into the hole. Then, all of a sudden he cried:

"Hurray! I've struck water! The well is finished!" And up out of the hole he came crawling. But oh! Such a sight as he was—covered with mud from the tips of his long ears to the ends of his digging toes. And his new suit was covered with mud and so was his red necktie.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" cried Sammie and Susie."

"My! But you are a mess!" murmured old Mommy Bunch.

"Wiggy! Didn't I tell you to keep nice and clean so you could go call on Mrs. Wibblewobble? And here you are all mud," cried Nurse Jane, who happened to come along just then.

The rabbit gentleman blushed behind his ears. But when Nurse Jane saw what he had done—how he had dug the well for poor Mommy Bunch, why the muskrat lady laughed and said:

"Wiggy, you did just right, and I love you, mud and all." And the old Fuzzy Fox jumped out of the bushes and was going to nibble Nurse Jane's ears. But when the Fox saw Uncle Wiggily, all mud and dirt, the Fox thought the bunny was a tramp gentleman, and, being very much a [illegible] the Fox ran away. So all happened for the best, you see, and Mommy Bunch never more had to strain her rheumatism back by carrying water from the far-off spring, for she had a well at her own door.

And if the rain doesn't get the umbrella all wet so its mother thinks it has been in swimming, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Poppy Chat.

Russian Beet Soup—Cook three medium sized beets until tender, peel and put brough a sieve. Add one tablespoonful of powdered sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, one cupful of cream and two cupfuls of water. Put in the upper part of the double boiler and add one tablespoonful of cornstarch mixed to a paste with a little cold milk. Stir the mixture constantly until it thickens and boils and add a quarter of a teaspoonful of paprika and four teaspoonsful of lemon juice, a very little at a time. Serve very hot.

Orange and Ginger Sherbet—Boil together one cupful of sugar and two cupfuls of water for five minutes and add three-quarters of a cupful of chopped preserved ginger with the syrup, two cupfuls of orange juice, two tablespoons of lemon juice, the grated rind of half an orange and two teaspoonsful of granulated gelatine that has been softened in two tablespoonsful of cold water and then dissolved over hot water. Turn into a chilled freezer and when the mixture begins to congeal add the stiffly whipped whites of two eggs. Continue to freeze until firm and smooth.

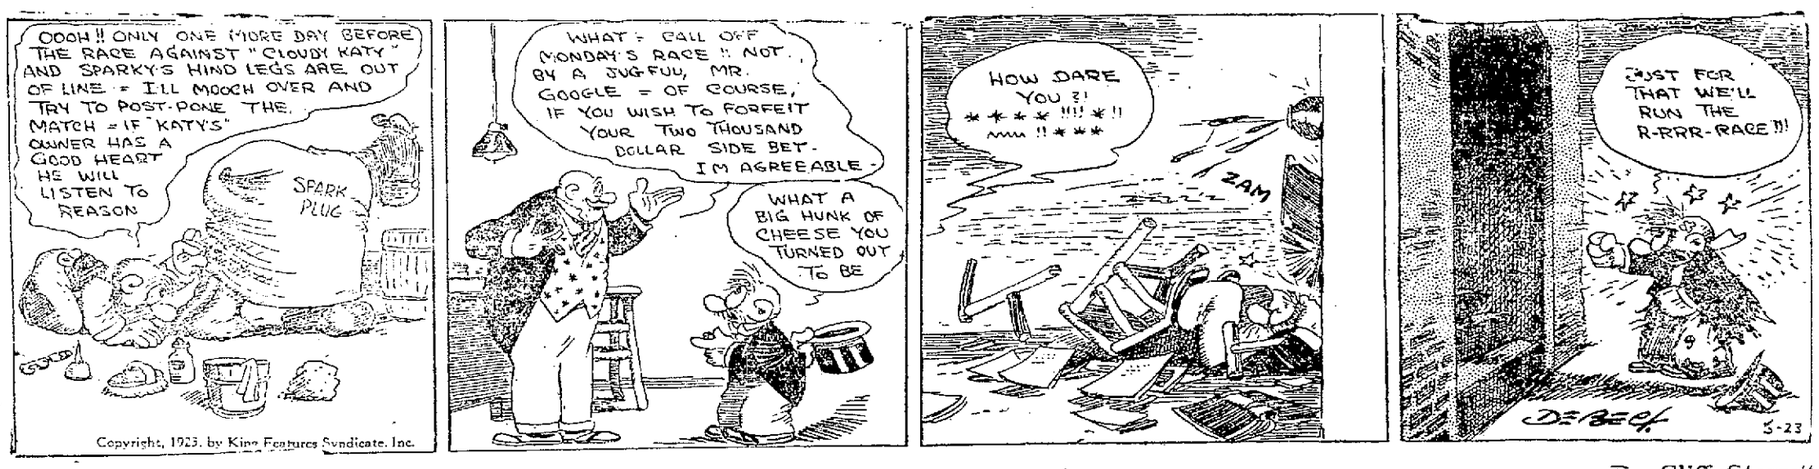

When one desires to serve an economical fish dinner, try a tasty salmon loaf. This is excellent when made from the canned fish, and those who will not eat canned salmon in any other way generally like it.

In using any canned meat or fish the flavor is much improved if the can is opened at least one hour before using the contents quickly washed in cold water and the fish thoroughly drained. Then expose to the outside air for 20 minutes and chill in the ice-box.

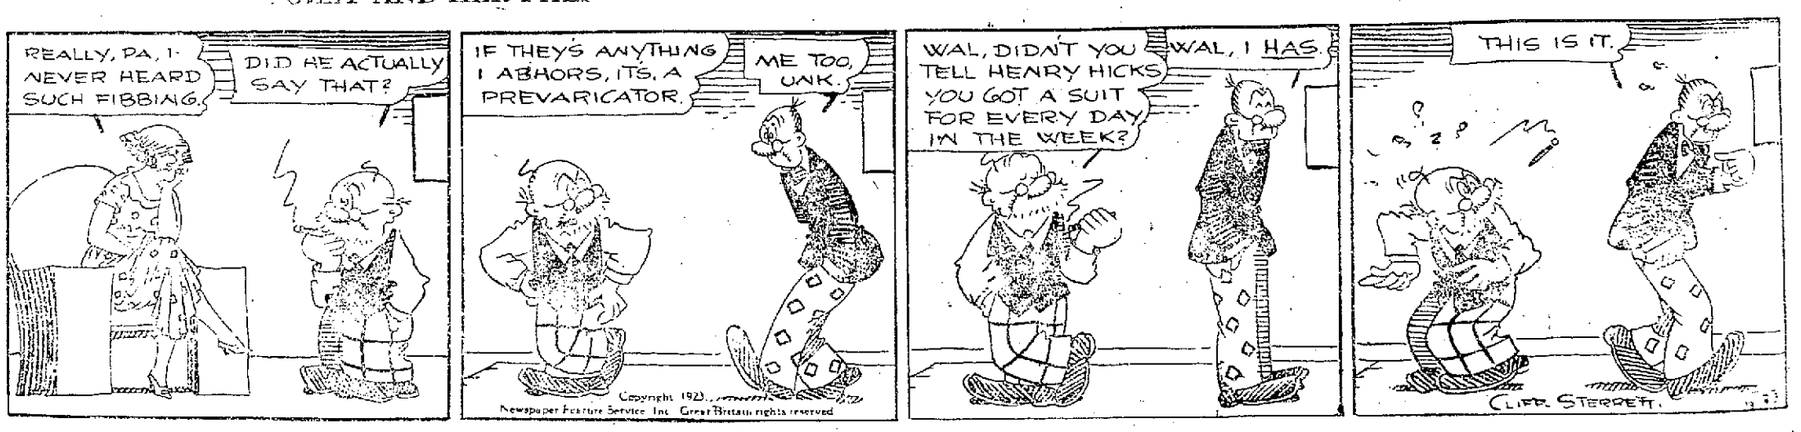

If the brand of fish is a reliable one and it is treated in this way it can hardly be known from the fresh commodity.

Rails Rise In Price Due To Harding Talk

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Prices generally displayed a firm tone at the opening of today's stock market although there were a few heavy spots. President Harding's speech advocating railroad consolidations brought fresh buying power into the rail group, Northern Pacific leading the early advance with a gain of one point. Houston Oil advanced 2½ but some of the low priced oils were heavy. Coppers moved higher under the leadership of Chino, up one.

Selling of the oils continued, General Asphalt dropping 2½ points and Standard Oil of N. J. 1. Good buying continued, however, in the rails, foods, motor accessories, merchandising and public utilities. Studebaker and American Can were heavy. Foreign exchange rates were unchanged with the exception of German marks which rallied 2 points to .0010 cent.

The close was steady. Sales approximated 300,000 shares.

Lake Kegonsa.

Ward Harris of Chicago, manager of the Western Newspaper Union, has leased the F. A. Montague cottage in Lincoln park for a season of enjoyment at the lake. Mr. Harris and family spent some time at the same locality last summer.

Electric lighting service has been extended to date by the Kegonsa Electric Light & Power Co. as far as the Halverson grounds in Rock Elm park and the lamps were turned on Thursday night. The Halverson grounds have an arc light and another of the same kind may be enstalled. Abner Halverson, the owner, is having built a bath house with compartments and lockers to accommodate 25 people at a time and the cement floor was completed yesterday. The lake has a sandy bottom at that point but Mr. Halverson thought that in order to establish a certain depth for bathing a cement flooring would be more suitable. The lighting system will shortly be extended as far as Barbers bay. The electric current is supplied from Stoughton, and men employed by the city are doing the work.

With whole families arriving daily from the cities the lake shore is now just humming with human activity. About the same water level has been maintained the past several weeks, evaporation making but slight impression on the lake. The Yahara river from the lake to Stoughton does not supply sufficient power for operation of the three city plants, Stoughton, Dunkirk and Stebbinsville, and energy is obtained from the Prairie du Sac high tension wires.

Spanish War Veterans.

The state encampment of the Spanish War Veterans occurs at Fort Atkinson this week, June 28, 29 and 30, and the Jefferson County Union has printed a special issue of that paper announcing the event. The Stoughton camp should meet in monthly session on Thursday evening, but it is unlikely that there would be enough present for a quorum, as nearly all the members will be at Fort Atkinson on that date. The Racine Legion Drum and Bugle corps will be on hand Saturday and this is the official drum and bugle corps of the American Legion of the United States.

Edgar S. Engan, manager of the Heddles Lumber Co., at Stoughton, and family are spending some time in their former home, Minneapolis.

Phillip Falk, who has been over from Lake Mills, a visitor with his grandmother, Mrs. O. N. Falk, left yesterday for Milwaukee.

W. H. Leary went to Wauzeka yesterday for a visit with his sister.

Death at Home for Aged.

Miss Haldis Knudson Opheim died yesterday at the home for the aged and the funeral will be held Saturday, service conducted by Rev. B. J. Larson, the superintendent, and the remains will be shipped to her former place of residence, Luverne, Minn. Miss Opheim was 81 and had been a resident at the home five years.

Rev. B. J. Larson, superintendent at the home for the aged and the herdsman, Earle F. Smith, went to Madison yesterday where they attended the Holstein field day.

Mrs. George Holtan, Mrs. Emely Norgaren and Miss Nora Norgaren have been visitors with Miss Amandah Lewton, who had an operation for removal of tonsils at the Methodist hospital.

Luther League at 7 p. m. Bible study Wednesday and prayer meeting Thursday, 7:45 p. m. L. L. Nesvig, pastor.

A very enjoyable recital was given by a group of Miss Vinnie Anderson's piano and organ pupils Thursday evening. These recitals serve as a very useful purpose as students are thereby given a training of appearing in public. Each of the students gave a creditable account of the work that has been done the past year. As a proof that Miss Anderson possesses right methods and is thorough in her work, he has been highly complimented by teachers in colleges where her pupils have been received.

Ralph J. Anderson of the firm of Borrud & Anderson has been a visitor at Middleton, where he discovered that rain had fallen.

M. A. Kildal left Thursday for Detroit on Business and will later go to Port Huron, Mich., where he will attend the Epworth League conference of the Norwegion M. E. church, which continues several days.

The Stoughton Wagon Co. sent two fire trucks to Omro, Wis., that had been bought by the municipality. W. H. Cox, manager for the Stoughton Wagon Co. at Janesville was a caller with the head office Thursday.

Mrs. Stavick and children of Sisseton, S. D., are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lewis, North Harrison St.

J. J. Holmstad left Thursday on a trip to Eau Claire, Minneapolis and Albert Lea, Minn., and will be absent a couple of weeks.

D. D. Usher and Ambrose Osterheld have been visitors in Delavan and Bardville.

The Tobacco Pool

Says The Edgerton Eagle concerning the Tobacco Pool:

"With the closing up of the season the tobacco growers of Wisconsin are more fully convinced that the Pool is the best and most profitable way to market their crops after all. They are beginning to see how the difficulties of this season are going to be disposed of in the future and that all matters affecting the Co-operative marketing of tobacco will be moving without friction in the future."

"New contracts are being signed in the different leaf growing sections of the state as the membership books have been opened up, and to assure future strength of the pool in holding 75 per cent of the crop under the state marketing system, stress is being made upon members securing other signers.

Cooksville

The house occupied by Henry Moe and family on the J. P. Porter farm burned to the ground Friday morning at about five o'clock. Very little of the furniture was saved. Arthur Franklin is building a new house on his farm southwest of Cooksville. Walter Weber has moved into the house he purchased last fall. Mrs. Clarence Franklin entertained the Cooksville Community club and the Union club at her home Thursday. A large number attended. Highway 19 Still Has 2 Poor Detours

Construction Work On State Roads Unchanged, Is Weekly Report

(By the Associated Press)

MILWAUKEE—Detours and road construction jobs on Wisconsin highways have remained practically unchanged the past week, according to the weekly report of the Milwaukee Journal's tour department. Highway 29 between Hartford and Slinger has been completed. The new 29 runs east of Slinger, cutting off about two miles.

Highway 19 to Mdison still has three detours. The two detours around Watertown are in poor condition. Highway 41 is closed from the intersection of county trunk F, in Waukesha county to Jefferson, the detour taking one over county trunk B. B. is just a dirt road and poor after rains. A good combination to Madison is 41 to Waukesha, 59 to Eagle, 99 to Palmyra, 90 to the intersection of C. C. to Fort Atkinson, and 12 to Madison.

Highway 36 is open to Lake Geneva.

Highway 17 north to Manitowoc has three detours. Tourists who desire to use this route are advised to follow 57 out of Milwaukee to Grafton, then follow detour 57 to 17.

The best route to St. Paul is still 15-47-16-11-12.

To Janesville, 61-20 and for Beloit highway 61.

To the Dells either 19 with its detours to Waterloo, then 107-29-33-12 or the above route to Madison, and 12 to the Dells, is suggested.

To Rhinelander and Minocqua, 15-47-16-D-47-39 are suggested and to Eagle River and Three Lakes 15-47-16-D-47-39-A-14-32.

Three From Institute To Attend Convention

Three representatives of the Institute for Research in Land Economics and Public Utilities will attend the annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, in Cleveland, June 26 to June 30. They are Dr. Richard T. Ely, Ernest M. Fisher and Ben Wigder. Dr. Ely is scheduled to address the farm land division June 27 on "A National Land Policy."

Increase In Bank Clearings Last Week

Bank clearings for the week ending June 16 totalled $3,185,619.78, an increase of $1,039,552.52 over the corresponding period of last year when clearings amounted to $2,146,067.26, according to the weekly bulletin of the Association of Commerce.

MERRILL — Frank Oldenburg was fined $325 for possession of a 50-gallon still, which was found disguised as a cupboard.

The Wife of a Bucketeer

Louise Groody McGee.

NEW YORK—The wide boulevards of gay Paree are thronged these days with blase pleasure seekers, reeking in wealth and beauty, from the six continents of the earth.

And, mingling with the cosmopolitan visitors, along these self-same boulevards, an American actress is wont to stroll, bedecked in gems andgorgeous clothes.

A chorus of "Oh's" and unwilling gasps follows in her wake.

She is Louise Groody. And her name is on every lip.

Here in the American metropolis a man is languishing in the solitude of a jail cell. His clothes and his face show the traces of weeks of imprisonment.

He's Frank McGee. And here his name in on every lip.

He and E. M. Fuller, as the "Two Bucketeers," had a long run on the Wall street circuit until the props dropped from under their bucketship and the crash skidded them into prison.

Louise Groody happens to be the wife of McGee.

Since the firm went "broke" state and federal officials have been making a continuous but vain effort to find out what became of the assets of the E. M. Fuller Company, amounting to millions.

They'd like to quiz McGee's actress wife concerning the matter of some 1,500,000 which she is said to have received from her husband.

But before the authorities decided that they would converse with the actress she conveniently—for herself—put the Atlantic ocean between her and Gotham, after switching her sailing date and eleventh hour reservation.

Of course it's absurd, she says in a Paris statement, to even think for one minute that she received any of the money.

Legislature May Finish End Of Week

Legislators Determined to Speed Up Work And Bring Adjournment

The Wisconsin legislature is determined to complete its business before the end of next week.

The fact was obvious in the senate today with the expression from members that a call of the house will be ordered Monday evening to get every senator in his seat Tuesday. The plan then is to rush through the remaining work with morning, afternoon and evening sessions.

The assembly long ago decided that it would move away from Madison on or before June 30. Farmer members have already made their exodus in many cases, while others are spending only an occasional day in their seats.

Closing week in the senate, if such it proves to be, promises to involve a number of sensations. With a tax fight, a morals investigation, and personal controversies all entering to jumble up the situation, the members look for a number of important and interesting meetings.

There are several senators who look for a special session should the Progressive tax program be defeated.

Women Must Be In Rooms By 10:30; Rule

Can't Go To Public Dance; Housemothers, Dean In Session

Women attending the summer session at the university must be in their rooms by 10:30, according to the rules formulated at a meeting of housemothers called in Lathrop parlors yesterday afternoon by F. Louise Nardin, dean of women.

The rules formulated yesterday provide that quiet hours shall be kept on porches and throughout houses from 8 to 12 a. m., from 2 to 5 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 6:30 a. m., with the exception of Friday evening, and Saturday afternoon and evening; men shall not be received except for brief business calls earlier than 4:30 p. m.; a student who is to be absent from her house over night must secure the consent of the house mother and give her all details; parties shall be attended only on Friday and Saturday evenings, and they shall close at midnight so that students may be in their houses by 12:30; women students do not attend public dances.

The motoring clause is similar to that in the S. G. A. rules for the regular session, and provides that students do not motor outside the city limit later than 9 p. m., nor within the city limits after 10 p. m., without a chaperon. Riding to and from parties, however is permissible.

Ten o'clock at night is set as the time when all students must be off the lake. No canoeing or bathing will be allowed after that hour.

Days Hang Up 10 Wet Scalps During Session; Senate Kills the Bills

Measures Aimed At The Prohibition Law Fail In The Legislature

With the death in the assembly of the final bill referring to prohibition, wets and drys of the Wisconsin legislature took stock today of the outcome of the fight throughout the session against prohibition enforcement.

The drys pointed to 10 dead bills all aimed at prohibition enforcement, which met defeat at the hands of the prohibition forces. The wets showed that they had succeeded in having one resolution adopted memorializing congress to permit the manufacture of beer with as high an alcoholic contents as compatible with the 18th amendment.

Out of 14 wet bills and resolutions, this one proposal managed to come out alive and be sent to Congress. The remaining measures went to their graves largely by senate action. A decisive majority in the upper house, supposed to be wet at the opening of the session, killed one anti-prohibition move after another.

Most important of the wet moves was embodied in the Sachtjen bill, providing for restricting search and seizure under the Severson prohibition enforcement act. Gov Blaine gave his open indorsement of this measure, which was killed in the senate after a fight on May 17, by a vote of 17 to 14.

A spectacular fight developed over the Tucker bill for repeal of the Severson law when the assembly passed that measure, following the lead of New York. Again the senate turned, killing the proposal by a 19 to 12 vote, without according it any consideration. The upper house had previously killed the Gettelman bill and the Polakowski bill both of them providing for repeal of the state enforcement measure.

Senator Czerwinski ended one wet move when he withdrew a resolution offered by himself, memorializing Congress for the return of light wines and beer. He offered the substitute amendment to the Burke resolution which finally got through the senate 18 to 13 and was then concurder in by the assembly.

A dry bill sponsored by Senator Howard Teasdale, intended to broaden enforcement powers of local officers was killed by the senate. The Schumann bill proposing a referendum on the question of repealing the Volstead act died in the upper house 7to 22.

In the wet Assembly the Sachtjen bill restricting search and seizure was passed by a large vote and the Tucker bill repealing the Severson law went through by a 39 to 35 vote. In addition the assembly voted for the Mark bill removing regulation of screens and blinds in saloons from the state prohibition department and placed the regulation with municipalites. The senate killed this plan, as well as both the Tucker and Sachtjen bills.

The lower house itself voted to definite postponement of the Kamke bill providing for a reduction in the expenditure of the prohibition department from $60,000 to $10,000 annually. Drys and wets joined finally in killing the committee on state affairs bill providing for a referendum on repeal of the 18th amendment.

This was the final move of the session, and resulted in the disposal of the question without so much as a roll call.

Throughout the present legislature, the wet and dry question has figured prominently, not only as an issue by itself, but as an influence on nearly all other legislation. It is generally admitted to have been injected into most of the lower house controversies, with the wet bloc usually in a position of control.

The senate did not allow the prohibition issue to assume any decided prominence. Its members explained that they regarded the liquor question as of less importance than many other matters.

Education Board Is Planning More Rooms

Plans for addition of nine rooms to school buildings in Madison are now being considered by the building committee of the board of education. A budget provision of $4,000 for addition of two rooms at the Lowell school will take care of about one fourth of the program.

The greatest congestion is in the outskirts of the city, the schools in the central portions of the ciyt being less crowded, it was said today by T. W. Gosling, school superintendent.

Tourists At Monona Park Travel By Bicycle

Twenty years ago it was the fashion to tour the country by means of the bicycle. Well it is still the fashion, in spite of Henry Ford, for when H. H. Rateriff and John Simpson, members of the Kiwanis club, called on the tourists at Monona park the other night, they found two men camping there, who were going to the Dells from their home in Chicago by bicycle. They were delighted with the camp site and accommodations.

Burrows park as a municipal bathing beach is suggested in the weekly bulletin of the Association of Commerce. The shore line here is ideal due to its sloping nature.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Proposals will be received up to 10 A. M. of Friday, June 29th, 1923 for the construction of a new Dining Room and Kitchen Wing for the Dane County Asylum for the Chronic Insane near Verona, Wisconsin.

Plans may be seen at the office of Max Sommers, Sec'y of Building Committee in the Dane County Court House, at the office of the Architect, 23 Tenney Bldg., Madison, Wisconsin, at the office of the Builders & Traders Exchange at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and at the office of the Superintendent of County Asylum at Verona, Wisconsin, after Friday, June 1st, 1923.

Proposals will be:

A For the entire construction except Heating and Ventilation, Plumbing and Wiring.

B For the Plumbing.

C For the Wiring.

Each proposal for any part of the work will be accompanied by a certified check.

A for $5,000.00.

B for $500.00.

C for $300.00.

Each such check to be made payable to Max Sommers, Sec'y; such amount to be forfeited to Dane County, Wisconsin, in case the bidder's proposal has been accepted within five days of the date of letting and he shall fail to sign a satisfactory contract and furnish an acceptable Surety Company bond within ten days from date of acceptance, or the bid may be accompanied in each case by a Builders bond of the same amount—the conditions of which agree to forfeit such sum in case the bidder should fail to complete his contract and furnish bond as above specified.

Time of Construction is a most important element and attention is directed to the time conditions of specification. Penalty for failure $25.00 per day.

The Building Committee reserves the right to reject any or all of the bids, or to accept any bid or combination of bids it may deem to the best interests of Dane County within ten days of the date set for opening same.

Proposals should be addressed to Sommers, Sec'y Building Committee, Dane County Court House, Madison, Wisconsin, and each bidder must be responsible for the delivery of his proposal.

Signed:

J. G. LINGARD,
Chairman.

Automobile Painting
Recently added facilities make our paint shop equipped so that we can now paint your car in 7 to 10 days' time.
Remember, when we say PAINT your car we mean what we say—we eliminate the use of all dryers, hardeners and chemicals in our painting process and use the same method to paint your car that only the large body manufacturers use. When your car comes out of our paint shop it will have that new car finish with lasting qualities.
Enameling fenders is another of our specialties. They are baked in our ovens and improve the appearance of any car and last much longer.
When it comes to making seat covers, tops, cushions, curtains, winter enclosures, California tops and the repairing of the same, we believe with confidence that it will pay you to see us.

Our Saturday Open Letters

TO WEATHER FORECASTER MILLER

Dear Eric: Haven't you punished Madison enough for one week? Unless you do something soon we will have our own little lava display around the square. The asphalt is already becoming spongy and the pedestrian can feel it sink under his feet. It's a hard life, Eric, a hard life.

* * *

TO THE POLAR BEAR AT THE ZOO

Dear Old Boy: You certainly have our sympathy during this weather. When people can shed everything but light suits and B. V. D.s you are compelled to wear your heavy fur coat throughout the summer. Of course furs are in style in June and July but then you would undoubtedly be glad to ditch style in order to be comfortable.

* * *

TO CHIEF SHAUGHNESSY

Dear Chief: Well, they are after your scalp again, chief. They have been doing that for a long time, haven't they? You have been in the police department for 30 years. Many of your critics and enemies have passed along during that time. We suppose that this new attack doesn't bother you one half as much as the heat.

* * *

TO THE WOMEN OF THE PUBLIC OPINION COMMITTEE

Dear Members of the Committee: We are glad to note that you will lend your support to the bill to limit the height of buildings in Wisconsin. It is an indication that women will face questions in politics which the men are afraid of touching because of "business reasons." The entrance of women into the political field is a hopeful sign in American life.

* * *

TO DOROTHY LA VERN

Dear Dorothy: Your stock company at the Orpheum is certainly deserving of all the nice things that have been said of the organization. When we first heard that stock was to take the boards at the Orph we felt that it was simply to be a "filler" for the remainder of the season. Now you are playing to good houses week after week and you seem destined to remain for the summer. Here's hoping your company will beat the hot weather, Dorothy.

* * *

TO ALEXANDER MEIKLEJOHN, AMHERST COLLEGE

Dear President Meiklejohn: Wisconsin is greatly interested in the fight that you have been making to preserve academic freedom at old Amherst. The action taken by your trustees is further evidence that selfish interests in this country are fighting hard to make the colleges and schools citadels of reaction. Praise be, there are still a few educators who have the temerity to call their souls their own.

* * *

TO WILLIAM BUSSE, DANE COUNTY HUMANE OFFICER

Dear Bill: We are glad that you are looking after the welfare of the dumb animals during this hot weather. They are the real sufferers. People can adjust themselves largely to the changed weather conditions but the dumb beasts have to bear the heat without complaint. Here's hoping that the good people of Dane county will go easy on the animals while the mercury is soaring.

* * *

TO PRESIDENT HARDING

Dear Mr. President: We note that you set at liberty a number of the political prisoners before starting on your trip west. Was that a precaution against the heckling that was sure to follow your speeches in the west, Mr. President?

TO THE DES MOINES CAPITAL

Dear Capital: The other day we referred to an editorial in the Des Moines Capital about murder in Russia.

Every hour, somewhere! IN THE UNITED STATES, a man's life is taken. During the past 10 years, 85,000 murders were committed, and in 1921 alone, more than 9,500 lives were taken. In other words, one out of every 12,000 Americans is murdered every year. In Europe, this figure is one out of every 634,000. Gilbert Cosulich, in July Good Housekeeping, tells some startling facts about this appalling situation. He says: "When a prospective assassin in America is about to pull the trigger, he knows that he will have three powerful friends if he commits the deed. These three friends are Sentimentality, the New Psychology, and Technicality. So he pulls the trigger and takes his chance. At that moment he becomes an enemy to society.

"Yet the American commonwealth frequently forgets that a murderer is its foe. Indeed, some of its members occasionally sympathize with him. As a result of a citizen's misplaced sympathy with the assassin, the latter may be protected not only from punishment, but even from arrest."

Sir Basil Thompson, former chief of Scotland Yard, commenting on the Good Housekeeping article, says: "Mr. Cosulich seems to have missed one point. The number of police employed in America is far smaller in relation to population than is considered necessary in European countries. This has an adverse effect upon the proportion of arrests for serious crime.

"The ordinary practice in some American cities seems to be that when the newspapers lose their interest in a case, the police allow it to drop. They are so much overworked that they have no option."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

From Chippewa County

Writer Criticises Legislature for Action on the Eber Water Power Bill.

[To The Editor]—In a letter to The Capital Times recently Mr. Weller J. Long says: "Progressivism—What Is It?" And then the doctor goes on to say: "The economic question is the big question with which our legislative bodies, both state and nation, will have to grapple."

"Judging by their action there does not seem to be much reason for any hope in that direction. The present legislature did not even have the sense or spunk to pass this water power bill. When they cannot display a little common sense in such a matter, what would they do when the economic question at large should be presented to such a lot?

The economic state is water logged, submerged up to the scuppers. It is like a vessel that has sprung the neck bolts.

Practically every line of business is over capitalized or carries fictitious valuation, and the masses are overburdened with the drain of dividends, interest and taxes. Thirty years ago the Rothschilds of London, Paris and Vienna were the leading money lenders of the world. At that time they held bonds of the different nations for one billion, six hundred million dollars. It was regarded as an enormous sum. What does that look like now. When the nations are owing hundreds of billions of dollars, all is to be met with gold. Every country in the world that has any money standard at all except Mexico and China, is on a gold standard and only eight or 10 billion dollars between them all.

Mr. Brisbane thinks that great credit is due to President Harding and Secretary Mellen for having reduced the national debt by two or three billions, but what about the hundreds of thousands of farmers that have been driven empty handed out of their homes, and the process is still going on.

Mr. Brisbane thinks or says that big business should be encouraged in order to be able to compete with foreign countries. When sugar sells in Germany for three cents per pound American money while it cost 10 and 11 cents per pound in this country and everything else in proportion, it would seem that as American business big and small is pretty well taken care of, and the process of fleecing it as it is carried on now, ought to satisfy the most rapacious one.

If anything is suggested that would in any manner interfere with this crazy rioting they commence yelling "Un-American, paternalism, socialism, anarchism and bolshevism."

Some time ago there appeared in The Capital Times a letter signed A Plain Citizen, in which the writer is giving his views on taxation and saying that industry should be dealt with in the matter of taxes, so that their earnings can go to new investments, and thereby help to build up the commonwealth. What about the billions of dollars that have been squeezed out of the American people and invested in foreign bonds, and in banking in the South American countries? Does that help to build up this commonwealth?

Wall Street bankers go in special trains to Washington to tell President Harding what to do, and other big business men go to Madison and threaten to leave the state if anything is done to interfere with their business. And the legislature sits there wasting time with trifles most of them not worth the paper on which they are printed, and quaking in their boots. Some of them do not seem to know from one day to the next how to vote on any given measure. How would such fellows stack up as representative men. When history is in its making, when their very life and liberty would depend on their action.

A writer to the Saturday Evening Post some years ago after having reviewed the economical condition of the world, ends up his article with these words: "Civilization is due for a turn, and if in making that turn it takes a slide, the Angel Gabriel may just as well toot his horn and be done with it."—Anton Solberg, Chippewa County.

With our modern methods of precision, syphilis may now be diagnosed early, treated definitely and cured permanently.

Poems That Live

I THINK OF THEE.

(From the German of Goethe.)

I think of thee when the strong rays of noon
Flash from the sea;
When the clear fountains glimmer in the noon,
I think of thee.

I saw thee when along the distant way
The dust clouds creep,
And in the night, when trembling travellers stray
By chasm and steep.

I hear thee when the tides go murmuring soft
To the calm air;
In lone and stilly woods I listen oft,
And hear thee there.

I am with thee—I know thou art afar,
Yet dream thee near;
The sun goes down; star brightens after star,
Would thou wert here!

A Thought

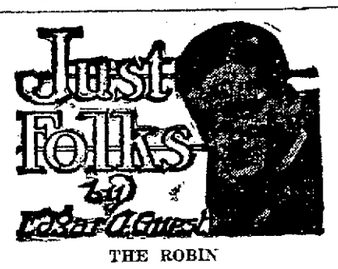

Altho affliction cometh not forth of the dust, neither doth trouble spring out of the ground; yet man is born unto trouble as the sparks fly upward.—Job 5:6-7.

In adverse hours, the friendship of the good shines most; each prosperous day commands its friends.—Euripides.

Sending children into camps, without proper protection against camp diseases, is disregarding danger.

Uncle Ebner Futty Makes Use of His Beard

THE ROBIN

A robin, singing in a tree,
Saw something that I couldn't see.

Here in the self-same world, thought I
We dwell beneath the open sky.

Yet richer is my lot than yours,
I dwell behind these friendly doors.

I have a roof above my head,
Within a nest you make your bed.

I am safe sheltered from the rain,
And yet I whimper and complain.

Red-breasted bird, you are the prey
Of cunning foes both night and day.

Cold blows the wind where you abide,
Scarce is the food you must provide.

And yet despite the cares which sting,
With every rising sun you sing!

From your high place, courageous bird,
Your song of happiness is heard.

Surely, red robin, you must see
Something denied to men like me.

Against the pain and care of strife
You sing the glorious joy of life.

While I go, blinded by my care,
Wailing the burdens I must bear.

Surely, with all my strength to do,
I ought to be as brave as you.

Surely the countless joys I see
Should make a singer out of me.

Our Last Word on Health

Quinine, drainage,
Window screen;
All knock ague
On the bean.

Consider the habit, how it grows.

Cows that supply milk for babies should be tuberculin tested.

Every morphine bottle should be labeled: "Who enters here leaves hope behind."

With a hookworm or two
And a hound or so,
Man wants but little

An opiate has its place;—that place being in the hands of the conservative physician.

To find the communicability of malaria, multiply the number of mosquitoes by the number of unscreened windows.

If "skeeters" had stingers,
Like big bumble bees,
We'd screen all our windows,
And doors, if you please.

When youngsters spend two weeks in the woods, then two months in bed with some fever, their vacations have not been profitable.

Before an army strikes camp, sanitary squads have removed all dangers from the camp site. Civilians on the other hand, prefer to gamble with mosquitoes and doubtful water.

TICKS O'THE TIMES

AMPLIFIED BY IRV SHAFRIN

BARNUM WAS RIGHT

Dear Ticks:
During the war, in France,
Our chief diet consisted
Of Slum and Beans.
After the armistice
Two other fellas
And myself
Got a three-day pass
To gay Paree.

Well, the first day there,
We hopped into one of
Those table d'hote places.
The menu was printed
In French, but we managed
To order a pretty good meal,
Till we hit the vegetables.
There was one thing listed
We didn't compre at all,
So we asked "garcon."
He assured us it was "tres bon,"
"Bring it on," we hollered.

He did——
It was beans!

Now that golf clubs are becoming popular in Madison we might as well inform the neophyte as to how he can, without embarrassment, learn to distinguish a niblick from a hoe and a tee from a plumber's joint.

1. In order to rate, first of all, join the golf club and pay your dues.
2. Subscribe to four or five golf magazines and loan them to your club members. You may lose money but you'll gain esteem.
3. Always keep a couple of golf balls and a club or two on your office desk.
4. Practice a Scotch accent. The best place to practice is, of course, in your cellar. Savvy?
5. Decorate your walls with photos of Chick Evans, Gene Sarazen, et al.; know their biographies
6. Get a book on slang and learn how to cuss without blushing.
7. Although we're living in an era of prohibition, it is always in place to refer to your "morning round"—of golf.
8. Always have a batch of golf stories on hand. Avoid Kentucky Derby anecdotes—they are too racy.
9. Learn how to mention golf scores adeptly, without being caught.
10. Stay away from the game. The really expert enthusiast on golf doesn't play it.

If you follow these ten commandments all the amateurs will follow you. The professionals will know you are also a professional—liar.

TWO KIDS

The elder's hair is chestnut brown;
The younger kid's is red.
Of all the roughnecks in the town
They are the champs, 'tis said.
And they are tearing up and down
From dawn till time for bed.

They hang the cat up by the tail;
They've done it more than once.
And every minute, without fail,
They're pulling off new stunts.
The man who comes with milk or mail
Is met with rash affronts.

They lock the dog behind a door
And wait for him to smother;
But I wouldn't take a million for
That red-head and his brother,
Nor could you garnish from my store
A nickel for another!

Justin De Spair.

After a canvass of the city streets we find the following popular season slogans. The droll part of it is that they are still popular.

Have you seen these?

"We raise all the vegetables served in this hotel." (Up the elevator, probably).

"Nobody will be seated after the performance starts." (Unless there are empty places on your left or right).

"Only the most exclusive tenants taken by this company." (That is, those having the price).

"Employes of this hotel not allowed to accept tips." (Except on the side).

"By this method you can reduce without dieting." (Reduce your pocketbook, of course).

"Five million people have already enjoyed this novel." (These being the five million illiterates).

"Girls with abbreviated costumes not allowed on this beach." (Only in the water).

"The cab fares of this company are the cheapest in town." (They dont mention what town).

THE WELLSPRING

When fresh young violets laugh and call
Through the dim, leafy woods,
And dancing rivulets leap and fall
Amid green solitudes,
Then hidden music seems to start,
Upwelling from some secret heart
That throbs in every joyous thing:
In throat of bird, in glancing wing,
For round us lies the mystic love
Whence bliss immortal flows,
That guides the flight of homing dove,
That opens the velvet rose.
That in a maiden's starry eyes
Kindles the light of astral skies,
And, like a meadow dew-impearled
Breathes sweetness on the morning world.
